Asia and Wall Street.
Big Steel's Dividend.
The Hill Top Animals.
Two Thumbs Missing.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HEARST RANCH, San Simeon, Cal., Jan. 26.

TO THIS PLACE, looking down on the Pacific from a hillside height of 1,700 feet, all the world's news comes, by special wire.

The Universal Service automatic multiplex machine grinds out the news as impartially as Gabriel writes it down in his book.

YOU READ of lawyers trying to prove that Mrs. Judd should be hanged for killing two women at Phoenix, Ariz., because she was jealous, and of other lawyers trying to prove that Mrs. Judd did not do it, or, if she did, she was insane.

FROM MUKDEN, across the Pacific, comes one message describing Japanese bombing planes, "soaring over the mountains of Jehol province," picking out bandit camps and scattering the bandits with tons of explosives. Little chance for bandits, with airplanes against them.

The Japanese lost one captain and two pilots killed in crashes. In ordinary ground fighting, they might have lost a thousand.

THE NEXT cable from Asia, coming in from Shanghai, as this is written, tells of a Japanese plane carrier, anchored in the harbor sending planes flying low over Shanghai, much to the annoyance of the various European settlements there, and 1,500 more Japanese marines landing in the Chinese city.

It is predicted that our State Department will protest violently. That will not worry Japan. He who has the planes can ignore the protests.

FROM THE CORNER of Broad and Wall streets, New York, Mr. "Broadan Wall" tells by wire of his specialty, stocks, bonds, money and the outlook. He wonders whether United States Steel will suspend its common stock dividend at today's meeting.

If Judge Gary were alive, he would probably say:

"We are losing money, therefore no dividend."

But steel workers hold much stock. Investment trusts are loaded with it. One more common dividend or part of it may be paid out of reserves in the hope that a change will soon justify it. Wednesday morning newspapers will tell you.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Examiner quotes W. S. Knudsen, president of Chevrolet, now looking after sales on this coast:

"We've worn out the crying towel in the United States. Now we are getting down to work, and things are going to get better."

If work can make them better they will be better with Knudsen. But others seem to have crying towel factories running on full time, with production unlimited.

THE STOCK MARKET wants to know what Henry Ford will announce and produce. It seems not to have noticed the collection of miniature automobiles that Mr. Ford recently sent to England from his Detroit factory.

These baby Fords are only 10 feet long, 5 feet and a few inches high, with an engine like a toy, to meet Britain's foolish tax system that discourages real automobiles.

Such toy automobiles will not be offered on this market, but may produce great results in England, unless the British refuse to let an American make money, on any terms.

TO COMFORT those that crowd around the crying towel, it may be mentioned that the income of the United States in 1930, latest year of complete reports, was SEVENTY-ONE THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS, equal to an income of twenty-three hundred and sixty-six dollars for every family in the country, if the money were equally divided.

IF YOUR COMMUNIST friend says it should be equally divided, tell him that it should, of course, but it cannot be done. If it were done, the total would melt rapidly, because those that create wealth would lose interest. If an African savage kills a man-eating lion, you must give him more fat wives than he needs, or he will kill no more man eaters.

If a civilized American financial savage creates new industries and new wealth, you must give him more fat millions than he needs, or he will stop creating wealth.

GOVERNMENT ESTIMATES place the total national wealth of the United States at three hundred and twenty-nine billions, seven hundred millions, or ten thousand nine hundred and sixty-one dollars for each family.

It is a ridiculous underestimate, for there is more money than that hidden in the ground between here and the Mississippi and ten times as much will be produced by organizing and inventing American brains, in the next hundred years.

THIS TOP of the hill in California would interest you as much as all the world news. Enormous red and white camelias, roses and other flowers of all kinds, bloom in the open air of midwinter. Small birds hop about, with no thought of migrating.

And W. R. Hearst's private menagerie, in its collection of cages, on the hillside, is as interesting as all of Wall Street and Hollywood combined.

THE SPIDER monkeys have only four fingers on their front hands, no thumbs, but they have thumbs on their hind hands. Does that account for their always worried expressions, eternal wonder as to what point in

RUTH CALM AS FRIENDS TESTIFY OF HATE

Husband Shaken as State Offers 'Confession' Note; Aide of Count on Stand

By ARTHUR L. MAREK
International News Service.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Murder defense, based on a life-long series of "psychopathic episodes," was begun today by attorneys who seek to save Mrs. Ruth Judd from the noose at her trial for the trunk murders.

Mrs. Judd unflinchingly heard two former women friends testify she was intensely jealous of the attentions paid by a rich "playboy" friend to Hedvig Samuelson and Agnes Leroi, the murder victims.

The state closed its methodical case against Mrs. Judd with the dramatic testimony of Lucille Moore, beautiful brunet nurse, and Mrs. Arthur Lepker, pretty blonde friend of Mrs. Judd.

With equal calm Mrs. Judd saw the jurors peer into the blood-stained trunks and suitcase in which the bodies of the slain women were shipped to Los Angeles.

HUSBAND MOVED

A spasm of emotion swept over portly Dr. William C. Judd, however, when County Attorney Lloyd Andrews read the "confession letter" in which Mrs. Judd professed an abiding love for her husband and admitted the slayings.

Henri Behoteguy, secretary to James Minotto, the Italian count, who came to America and married Ida Mae Swift, of the Chicago family of packers, was the first defense witness.

A glimpse of the criss-crossing currents of love and jealousy which the state contends prompted the killings, was gained through Mrs. Lepker's testimony. She testified:

"I had three conversations with Mrs. Judd, all about her boy friends. One was named Jack, but I can't be sure his other name was Halloran.

"Mrs. Judd remarked Jack had gone to Los Angeles, but would soon be back. Another time Mrs. Judd said Jack had gone East and that Sammie—that's Miss Samuelson—had another boy friend. Mrs. Judd said this new boy friend would probably be here when Jack returned and she was glad because she figured Sammie was trying to take Jack away from her."

LETTER OFFERED

Mrs. Lepker's testimony paved the way for the complete reading of the strange, almost incoherent "confession letter," which Mrs. Judd wrote on nine telegraph blanks while she was hiding in Los Angeles.

This letter, addressed to her husband, Dr. William C. Judd told that Mrs. Judd quarreled with Sammie, who shot her. Then she said she took the gun away and killed Miss Samuelson and Miss Leroi.

Following brief cross-examination of Mrs. Lepker, County Attorney Lloyd Andrews rapidly introduced the many state exhibits.

Miss Moore took the witness stand at the start of the day's proceedings to describe a conversation she had with the "velvet tigress" on the day preceding the killing of the two women.

On the way to the bungalow apartment of Miss Samuelson and Mrs. Leroi, Mrs. Judd confided that she and Mrs. Leroi had quarreled, the witness said. Mrs. Judd was quoted as saying:

"You know our differences were over Jack."

MRS. MARY IRENE FLOYD

Mrs. Floyd, 21, 724 North Negley avenue, Miss Mary Irene Graf again today since her divorce from Ralph E. Floyd, whom she married in an elopement last April 23. She testified they lived together for six weeks, that he objected to her returning to Carnegie Tech for her senior classes this year and to instruction of a Bible class.

COUNTY NAMES FIFE SOLICITOR

J. P. Fife, of Edgewood, was named county solicitor by the County Commissioners today, in announcing a big shakeup in the offices of solicitor and the Bureau of Weights and Measures.

His predecessor, Mortimer B. Lesher, was retained as special counsel at $7,000 a year. Fife receives $8,000, or $2,000 less than the salary previously paid.

Assistants named included Ralph H. Frank, Churchill B. Mehard, Mayer Sniderman and James McClure at $5,000 each; John H. Lauer, $4,500, and Thomas L. Whitten, $3,000.

Dropped from the solicitor's office were Artemas C. Leslie, son of Max G. Leslie; B. B. McGinnins, Charles G. Lane and Frank W. Ittel.

Urban E. Dice, of Bellevue, was appointed chief inspector of the Bureau of Weights and Measures at $3,000 a year. Inspectors named at $2,400 each are Henry Huck, Pierce Prendergast, Harry Studt, A. L. Cotton, Frank Rapier, Edgar Collins, J. W. Johnson, William H. Sharah, Ralph E. Ord, Robert Manion and Earl Linn. The last two were retained.

Murder Jury Sees Prison Film, Mistrial Follows

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 26.—(INS.)—The jury sitting at the murder trial of Mrs. Olga Ziegler attended a showing of "Ladies of the Big House" last night. Judge William M. Seufert today declared their action was "highly prejudicial to the case" and ruled a mistrial.

The trial had begun yesterday. Mrs. Ziegler had been indicted as a result of the fatal shooting of her husband, Otto Ziegler, on September 15 last. Ziegler was killed as he was putting his automobile into his garage in the rear of his home in Westwood, N. J. George Flamard, 21, also of Westwood, was indicted jointly with Mrs. Ziegler, but he entered a plea and was remanded to jail to await sentence.

The action of the judge in declaring a mistrial came as a surprise. The jury was in charge of Undersheriff Edward Brown and he explained that the members of the jury had seen the only other motion picture in town and that they had asked to see "Ladies of the Big House," a picture concerned with the life of a woman in prison for murder.

JAPAN SEIZES CONTROL OF HARBIN

Chinese Massing Troops For Shanghai Defense; League Orders Warning

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service.

MUKDEN, Jan. 26.—Chinese "puppet" troops under the command of Gen. Hsichia today occupied Harbin, chief city of Northern Manchuria.

Preceded by Japanese airplanes dropping leaflets advising the populace not to fear the approach of the Japanese-directed army, small groups of Gen. Hsichia's troops entered and took control of the city, according to an official announcement by Japanese military headquarters.

A tense atmosphere prevailed in the city and newly recruited police resorted to frequent firing of guns, although none were reported hurt.

It was said the entry into Harbin was in accordance with a previously arranged compromise. Everything was believed to be in readiness for the ousting of Chinese unfavorable to Japan or inclined to favor Russian interests.

The stage was set for a Russo-Japanese economic duel revolving about the partly Russian-owned Chinese Eastern Railway, which passes through Harbin and has important administrative offices there. Harbin likewise is the center of the Russian sphere of influence in Northern Manchuria.

Chinese Troops Massed To Protect Shanghai

By DIXON HOSTE
International News Service.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 26. — The tense Shanghai situation was somewhat relieved today by the appointment of Gen. Chen Ming-Shu as foreign minister of the Nanking Nationalist government, succeeding the resigned Eugene Chen.

While China massed 17,000 crack troops in the Shanghai area and held them in preparation for immediate action, which was by no means a remote possibility, the appointment of Chen Ming-Shu was believed to have postponed fighting for awhile.

The new foreign minister favors a non-resistence campaign.

Martial law prevailed throughout Chinese territory, where a great tenseness gripped the people. Many circles predicted a clash within a few hours, although Chinese military maneuvers appeared to have checked any Japanese plans for an immediate invasion of the Chinese section of Shanghai or seizure of any of the Chinese forts.

Coal Firm's Tax Plea Fails

The Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation's fight to prevent D. B. Heiner, collector of internal revenue, from collecting $376,266.79, which he claims the company owes the government for 1917 excess profits tax, received a setback in Federal Court today.

Judge R. M. Gibson refused a bill of complaint filed by Terminal attorneys to enjoin Heiner from subjecting company properties for collection of the claim.

The defense attorneys contended that Heiner had filed his tax liens in May, 1931, against the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company, one of the companies which merged to form the present Terminal organization, and that therefore the existing company was not liable.

WRIGLEY DEAD; MADE RICH BY ADVERTISING

Pennies Built Into Fortune By 'Plunging' Baseball and Chewing Gum Magnate

International News Service.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26.—William Wrigley, Jr., the man who through the medium of advertising made pennies grow into millions, died at his winter home here today.

The noted sportsman and chewing gum manufacturer was 70. Death was caused by heart disease. Wrigley had been ill scarcely more than a week.

Mr. Wrigley

Wrigley, who made his millions from chewing gum, was an ardent sportsman, and owned the Chicago National League baseball club as well as the Los Angeles club in the Pacific Coast League. Baseball was always his hobby.

At the bedside when the end came were Mrs. Wrigley; a son, P. K. Wrigley and his wife; a daughter, Mrs. James R. Offield, and a granddaughter, Betty Offield.

STARTED SELLING SOAP

Wrigley maintained a luxurious winter home here, and usually spent many months of the year in the southwest. In addition to his properties here, he had extensive interests in California, including Catalina Island.

It was at the age of 21, in 1882, that Wrigley began his business career in his native city of Philadelphia. He went into business as a soap salesman for his father.

A brother, Edward, today heads the Wrigley Soap Company, the firm headed by their father.

While selling soap, Wrigley conceived the plan of distributing free with each cake a stick of chewing gum. The idea proved so successful that the youth turned his attentions solely to the chewing gum business. He went to Chicago and laid the foundations for his present huge enterprise. He founded the firm of William Wrigley, Jr., and Company for the manufacture of chewing gum.

KNOWN AS 'PLUNGER'

In all things—in business, baseball and the game of life—Wrigley was a "plunger." He was an exemplar of the American credo that any ambitious youth with rudimentary education can fight his way to fame and fortune.

Wrigley's policy in the world of commerce was "keep advertising!" Through the daily newspapers and other mediums he made America, as well as many other parts of the world, "chewing gum conscious."

Wrigley had a few maxims for those wishing to succeed. They were:

"Watch for a real opportunity—and grasp it; be sure that you get into something you like—and then work hard; don't take your eye off the ball—and keep your enthusiasm batting 1,000."

In accordance with his wishes, the body of Wrigley will be placed in a mausoleum, to be constructed in a private cemetery near his Catalina Island home.

SCHOOLEY AT HEARING

Ousted Treasurer With His Indicted Aide

ROY D. SCHOOLEY ARTHUR G. BURGOYNE

Mr. Schooley, the deposed and indicted city treasurer, dejected, haggard from long illness, at the state banking department's hearing with his indicted former chief investigator, Mr. Burgoyne, buoyant, jovial. It's Mr. Schooley's first appearance in months.

STATE BANK AIDE GRILLS SCHOOLEY

Ex-Treasurer Dejected as He Faces Quiz; Source of Securities Told to Taylor

George F. Taylor, Jr., deputy state secretary of banking, today said he knew the source of the mysterious bonds which figured in the alleged tricking of City Controller James P. Kerr into believing city deposits in the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company were amply protected.

After quizzing Roy D. Schooley, former city treasurer, and his chief investigator, Arthur G. Burgoyne, both under indictment, at an inquiry into affairs of the closed bank today, Taylor said:

'I know where the bonds came from, but I will say nothing further at this time."

MYSTERY BONDS

Burgoyne was quoted as telling Kerr "the butter is in the cooler" when he showed him bonds supposed to cover $125,000 funds in the Franklin Savings and Trust Company.

Subsequently the bonds could not be found when search was made of the treasurer's office.

The bonds are believed to have been traced to an individual who "loaned" them to Burgoyne and afterward took them back.

Schooley, haggard from long illness, appeared in public for the first time in months at today's hearing. He and Burgoyne were questioned for 15 minutes each behind closed doors. Charles A. Bardolph, president of the closed bank, also was questioned.

CLERK SUMMONED

Robert Torrance, chief clerk in the Treasurer's office, who was cashier under Schooley's administration, was called to testify this afternoon. He is said to have transacted much of the business of the office for Schooley.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park today said he expected Mayor Charles H. Kline and his deposed supplies director, B. L. Succop, to be tried jointly at Butler beginning March 14.

They were indicted jointly, as well as separately on malfeasance charges as a result of the supplies department probe.

Early Start Possible On Triangle Subway

Kline, Council Held To Blame for Delay; Bonds Not Sold

Construction of the long contemplated subway under the downtown shopping district can be started in approximately six months after the passage of necessary legislation and signing of contracts, if City Council and Mayor Charles H. Kline will authorize sale of the $6,000,000 bond issue provided for the project by voters years ago, a high official of the City Transit Commission revealed today.

Detailed plans could be completed in that time, he said.

Kline and the Council refused to take the action for which the public voted after taking up the matter in a lengthy conference with the Transit Commission

HOUSE STUDIES AKRON CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Chairman Vinson today announced the House Naval Committee would study the Justice Department's investigation of reported sabotage on the airship Akron.

He directed Representative McClintic (Dem.), of Oklahoma, to obtain the Justice Department's file on the study it made of charges against Paul F. Kassay, a former worker at the Akron plant, where the ship was built.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, said he knew nothing about a check Kassay is said to have received about the time he was supposed to have obtained work on the ship and said investigators found no "evidence of sabotage."

U. S. Indicts King In Night Club Raid

William P. King, who it was alleged operated the Silver Slipper, North Side night club in defiance of police orders, today was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a common nuisance.

Prohibition agents raided the Silver Slipper, 823 Federal street after they alleged they had purchased liquor between April 29 and May 14, 1930. A quantity of liquor was reported seized in the raid.

Prohibition Not Big Issue, Says Baker

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Newton D. Baker, prominently mentioned as a Democratic presidential possibility, declared today that prohibition is "obviously not" the big political issue in this country.

Interviewed before sailing on the liner Siboney for a brief vacation in Mexico City, he answered "no" when reporters asked him the direct question if he was a presidential candidate.

Gas Fumes in Cottage Kill Man, Woman Dying

A man believed to be T. C. Hogencamp, 60, of 909 North St. Clair street was found dead, and a woman companion, unidentified, was found unconscious early today in a room at Mrs. Emma Wallace's summer home near Glenshaw, presumably victims of carbon monoxide gas poisoning, according to a morgue report. A gas fire was burning in the room.

Hogencamp was said to be president of the Clydesdale Press, of Blawnox, and formerly had been manager of the Market Review Publishing Company, a livestock publication on Herrs Island.

The woman, aged about 35, was taken to the Allegheny General Hospital, where it was said her condition was serious. The man's body was taken to the morgue.

Mrs. Wallace told the Coroner's office the couple came to her home yesterday and obtained a room, the man saying:

"My wife and I want to rest."

Shortly before midnight, when the couple failed to appear, Mrs. Wallace sent her housekeeper, Claudia Allen, to inquire if they desired anything. They failed to answer repeated knocking and at 3 a. m. the door was forced.

'WE WANT FOOD,' MINERS' CRY TO U. S. GOVERNMENT

LABOR LEADER WARNS OF TAX ON WEALTHY

Lewis Given Ovation as He Assumes Control of 32nd Convention of Coal Union

By EUGENE J. CADOU
International News Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 26.—"I don't care whether you call it a dole or not—we want food."

This declaration by Thomas N. Taylor, president of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, brought loud cheers from delegates attending the thirty-second constitutional convention of the United Mine Workers of America here today. He continued:

"We are perfectly willing to work, but whether or not we get work—we want food.

"We're going to have food whether or not we have to take it by taxation from millionaires and billionaires."

OVATION FOR LEWIS

When John L. Lewis international president of the United Mine Workers of America who was expected to face attacks by enemies within the union, was introduced there was an ovation. More than two-thirds of the delegates arose from their seats but some 300 in the vicinity of the Illinois delegation remained seated.

Lewis was introduced by Adolph G. Fritz, secretary of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, who was temporary chairman. He said:

"John L. Lewis is the greatest man in the labor movement. He is a man with whom you may sometimes differ, but any mistakes he may make are honest."

GREEN TO SPEAK

Lewis immediately announced that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, would speak to the convention. John Boman, president of District No. 13, Pennsylvania, was appointed chairman of the reception committee.

Taylor in his speech declared that a number of United States bankers and business men had been holding up the dole as a scarecrow but at the same time were boosting the two billion dollar credit corporation which he said was a dole for business.

He said that some persons claimed that unemployment relief was not a federal but a local question. However, he said, that when a bank in Indianapolis goes broke from frozen assets, that was considered federal business.

VOTE MACHINE QUIZ REOPENED BY STATE

Senators Scan Bribe Offer Reports, Receivership And Recent Cancellations

HARRISBURG, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—The Senate Voting Machine Investigating Committee reopened its inquiry today to consider recent cancellations of contracts between voting machine companies and County Commissioners.

The committee also plans to investigate the recent attempted bribery of Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish by a former newspaperman who said he represented the Shoup Voting Machine Company.

The contract cancellations were by the new Boards of Commissioners of Northumberland and Schuylkill counties. These boards canceled the contracts for purchase of 70 and 295 Poole machines.

The committee also will consider the effect of receivership proceedings against the Poole company so far as mechanical readjustment of Poole machines already installed is concerned.

Members of the committee include Frank J. Harris, Pittsburgh, chairman, and Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., Pittsburgh.

WOMAN SAVED, GANG SOUGHT

SALINAS, Cal., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Monterey County officers directed a statewide search today for kidnapers who held Mrs. Mary Hansen, 62, wealthy Salinas Valley widow, a captive nearly 36 hours while they attempted to extort $6,600 from her relatives.

Mrs. Hansen was rescued last night. The kidnapers had left her alone in a cottage at Carmel.

Ransom notes received by Mrs. Hansen's two sons, Ralph and Henry, were signed "The Secret Six." One of the gang was a woman known as "Mrs. Mason," a comely brunette, about 30 years old.

Officers said "Mrs. Mason" lured Mrs. Hansen from the home of a Mrs. Lonnie Jensen at Salinas, with a fictitious story about a party in the Monterey cottage of one of Mrs. Hansen's sons. "Mrs. Mason" headed for Carmel, where the mother was confined.

CREDIT BOARD'S OPERATIONS DELAYED

$500,000,000 Appropriation Held Up in House; Choice Of Democrat Postponed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Two minor obstacles today held the Reconstruction Finance Corporation temporarily in an inoperative state.

It had no money and its board of directors had not been completed.

The House refused to accept the Senate amendment to the House bill apropriating $500,000,000 for the corporation to begin its work. The bill goes to conference to straighten out the dispute. The amendment is a minor one affecting the clerical staff of the corporation.

The President has encountered difficulty in fixing upon the third Democrat for the board of directors.

Both of these difficulties are expected to be smoothed out within the next day or so.

The problem encountered by the chief executive was said authoritatively to be the desire of states north of Texas and west of the Mississippi to be represented on the board.

The President intends to confer further with Democratic leaders in these states and in the Southeast before making a choice.

At the time, he has given thought to the reaction in Europe on the reconstruction program.

He feels there has been a misunderstanding on the other side of the Atlantic concerning some of the measures, since reports returned to him have spoken of certain moves as policies of inflation on the part of the United States.

Mr. Hoover feels that no steps proposed by the administration thus far involve any inflation of the nation's currency and considers the misunderstandings in Europe to have arisen from the varying interpretation of the word "inflation."

members, held in the Mayor's office after the councilmanic budget sessions.

PROJECT WITHIN FUND

At that time the Commission outlined a downtown subway plan that would keep the construction well within the $6,000,000 limit. The new route would have its terminus at Smithfield street near Second avenue. Running northwardly, the underground rapid transit line would traverse Smithfield street to Liberty avenue, to Ferry street, to Third avenue, returning to Smithfield street.

At the same time the Commission asked an $8,500 appropriation for 1932 to continue its technical work. This was refused.

Council, at its budget sessions, slashed the Transit Commission's funds and declared a moratorium on subway activities for at least a year. The office personnel was cut to one stenographer. Kline and Council were asked to retain Winters Haydock, technical engineer, at a salary of $6,500 and also one junior draftsman.

ROUTE SHORTER

The new route proposed by the commission is shorter than the original estimate.

The original schedule was for underground construction on Grant street, Liberty avenue, Ferry street and Second avenue.

Stations would be constructed with entrances at or near all the mercantile establishments.

Aside from the fact that employment would be given to more than 1,000 men, according to contractors' estimates, a large amount of construction work would result from the contemplated action of department stores in rearranging entrances to conform with the underground railways system's station sites.

COSTS DECLINE

Figures compiled by the Bureau of City Transit disclose that construction costs decreased 43 per cent last year. Savings of this amount were made in Philadelphia and other cities involved in subway work.

In a recent report, the Commission declared:

"Because of the recent great decline in the cost of subway construction, it is now possible to build the initial unit of the subway on a route which would probably be more satisfactory by reason of the greater extent of the area served, than the route recommended in 1929."

The city, according to the Commission, already has an investment of more than $300,000 in subway work. This includes construction of river piers and building foundations.

A tentative agreement has been reached with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, it was learned, whereby the traction organization will return to the city all money resulting from economies which it is believed will result from operation of underground cars.

COUNTY WILL LEASE AIRPORT

The Allegheny County Municipal Airport will be leased to the highest bidder, County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern said yesterday after announcing Halsey R. Bazley had been appointed director of the airport.

The resolution naming Bazley specified that his duties are to supervise the airport and lease it to the best interests of the citizens of the county. In explanation of the resolution, McGovern said:

"I am opposed to the county going into private business. I think we can lease the airport and make it self-maintaining."

Provision will be made to permit its use in case of military necessity.

evolution carried away those front thumbs?

Henry Thomas, who feeds monkys, mountain lions, jaguars, chimpanzies and the young elephant regularly, an impartial raven for those humble Elijahs, says:

"Don't ask me why they have no thumbs in front. They are supposed to have thumbs all around, like the chimps, and ourselves for that matter. Of course you know, our big toes are really thumbs. But, I'll tell you something. Those spider monkeys can hang all night from a nail, by their tails. That beats having four thumbs."

EXPLAIN THIS. The animals lived side by side in cages, ignoring each other. But when Mary Ann, the baby elephant, arrived and was led through the cages, to her spot on the edge of the bluff, every animal in the menagerie seemed to go wild with excitement.

Did that fresh odor of the jungle, brought from Africa by Mary Ann, awaken ancient, sleeping memories? Why did it excite the jaguar from Brazil, that had never heard of an elephant or of Africa, so much that he almost dashed his brains out against the bars?

Mary Ann swings gently to and fro, at the end of her iron chain, by day, sleeps in her stable at night. Close to the end of her chain, the female chimpanzee lives in her warm house.

She is separated from the male chimpanzee, "because," says Mr. Thomas, "we don't know but the male chimpanzee might kill her. He is ugly." If you pay too much attention to Mary Ann, the elephant, the female chimpanzee, always watching, flies into a rage, shakes the bars, stamps about her cage with horrible energy, and swings madly in the automobile tire suspended from her ceiling.

"SAY, THE professors tell you that chimps are our nearest relations among the animals. If you take jealousy into account, that female chimp is as nearly human as you could want."

It is Mr. Thomas speaking.

POOR MARY ANN does not want to make anyone jealous. She gets her chain around her head, trying to break it, never succeeds, wonders why the green grass is all just out of her reach. Her chain is fifteen feet long. The diameter of her world is thirty feet, its circumference about ninety feet.

And she is about as well off as we are. Better, in fact. She never heard of hard times.

HOOVER FAVORS U. S. GOODS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—President Hoover intends to ask Congress shortly for legislation that would require government departments to purchase American-made goods in preference to materials manufactured abroad.

In recent purchases of supplies by various federal branches, the President has found that low bids have been offered on foreign-made goods.

It is his understanding that in many cases these low prices have been made possible in part by a departure from the gold standard by various European countries.

He has decided, therefore, to take steps requiring government supply purchasers to accept bids on American-made goods whenever these materials are suitable or available as compared with goods manufactured abroad.

3 INDICTED IN EXPRESS THEFT

Three men were indicted by a federal grand jury today in what Department of Justice and American Railways Express operatives said was a big theft plot.

Two indictments were returned against Ernest McPherson and Regis V. Doyle, former railway express employes, and Leonard E. Whitsell. They are charged with theft of merchandise which disappeared from trains.

Four other men are under arrest in Corry, two in Buffalo and two in Cleveland, accused of being members of the same gang, which Morris Newfield, chief of American Railways Express detectives, said had stolen $25,000 worth of merchandise in seven months.

DAVIS DELAYS ENTERING RACE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania will have to wait until "the proper time" to learn whether Senator James J. Davis will run for re-election, and on what platform.

Davis refused to be moved from a watchful-waiting position on his candidacy by published reports that the Philadelphia Republican organization may support State Senator John J. McClure, of Delaware County, for the Davis seat.

With tomorrow the first day for circulating nominating petitions for the Pennsylvania primary in April, Davis said if petitions are circulated in his behalf it will be without his sponsorship. To questioners he replied:

"I have friends all over the state, and if they want me to run again they may circulate my petitions. When the proper time comes I will announce my candidacy and my platform so that every one may know where I stand."

The liquor car, traveling 70 miles an hour, plowed into the school children's car, scattering its occupants along the highway.

Denton Deal, 14, was killed. His six companions were injured seriously.

John Zielinski, driver of the liquor car, was rushed to a Leavenworth, Kan., hospital in a critical condition. His companions, Roman Zielinski, a brother, and Clarence Fry, were arrested.

Four 10-gallon kegs and one 20-gallon keg of whisky were found in the car.

PINCHOT HOLDS COAL REPORT

Pittsburgh district coal operators awaited with interest the reaction of Gov. Gifford Pinchot to a report on the bituminous industry submitted one month ago but revealed in text here only today.

The report was submitted by a committee named by the Governor and consisting of John M. Jamison, chairman; J. T. M. Stoneroad, R. Templeton Smith, C. F. Hosford, Jr., and Walter A. Jones.

Among other recommendations, including a plea for more equitable freight rates, the report vigorously opposed government ownership and operation.

It recommended rail rate adjustments asked for a careful study on taxation of coal properties; suggested district associations for stabilization of wages and pointed out the necessity of Ohio and West Virginia operators joining in any pact which might be considered.

The report was made to Gov. Pinchot last December 27.

Maharanee Plain 'Nancy' To 'Grandpa Louie'

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Wearied by a 10,000-mile trip to visit her aged and ailing grandfather, the Maharanee Sharmishthabai Holkar, Seattle-born wife of one of India's wealthiest princes, was just plain Nancy Ann Miller today and glad to be home.

Throwing her arms about her grandfather, Louis Schaeffer, as he stood on the doorstep of the family home here, the Maharanee murmured impulsively "O Papa Louie," and grandpa forgot all about calling her "your highness."

There was no hesitation in the homecoming, although her Indian husband's wealth is estimated at $300,000,000.

Traveling incognito in greatest informality, the Maharanee, Mlle. Christiane Du Loup, a Parisian friend, R. C. Khosla, her Indian secretary and his assistant, K. P. Dr. Crile Classes Mind As Menace to Health

The human mind, like a Frankenstein, is destroying mankind, Dr. George W. Crile, Cleveland, told members of the Shriners' Luncheon Club meeting in the William Penn Hotel today.

The brain of man has developed from the brain of an animal, he said, but with the development have come worry and disease to destroy the human body. Animals, incapable of constructive thought and worry, are not afflicted with the disease of men, Dr. Crile pointed out. He said:

"We have placed ourselves into the hands of a Frankenstein through lack of control of the mind. We ought to increase our powers of rationalizing and make our own destinies more secure."

DIVORCE LOOMS OVER WIFE'S MYSTERIOUS 'NIGHTS OUT'

PAJAMA PARTY GIRL REFUSES TO 'TELL ALL'

Curious Husband to Drop Charge Involving Pastor; Late Auto Rides Denied

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—A young wife's refusal to tell where she went after attending pajama parties of a married women's "Our Night Out Club," was the grounds today for the expected granting of a divorce to her husband.

Mrs. Treva Hostetler, 21, a vivacious brunette, denied, however, the accusation of her husband, Willard, 23, that she had slipped away from three club meetings to go automobile riding with the Rev. W. H. Sanders, 35.

WIVES FORMED CLUB

The club was formed of nine young married women in the little village of Midvale, O., on the theory that wives sometimes are entitled to a little fun all by themselves, with no husbands to bother. They played bridge, some of them smoked cigarets and sometimes they assembled in pajamas.

There didn't seem to be any objection to the club's motives as revealed by testimony yesterday in the divorce hearing, but there was a great deal of curiosity on the part of Hostetler as to where his wife went when the meetings were over. This curiosity the wife refused to satisfy.

ASKED TO JOIN CHURCH

The Rev. Mr. Sanders, married and the father of one child, came to her home several times to ask her to join his church, Mrs. Hostetler said, but "that was all."

Attorneys for the wife agreed to drop opposition to the divorce, if the husband would amend his petition to exclude any reference to the clergyman. Common Pleas Judge E. E. Lindsay then said the divorce could be obtained on a charge of cruelty, based on the wife's refusal to relieve her husband's mind. Hostetler agreed to this, and prepared to offer today the amended petition for the Judge's final approval.

MARY BROWN WARBURTON

Warburton Heiress Lured Comedian, Mate Charges

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—Her vast wealth, her dazzling social position, and her lavish gifts and constant attention enabled Miss Mary Brown Warburton to entice the love of Ted Healy, stage comedian, Mrs. Betty Healy, his wife, charged in a $250,000 alienation of affection suit against Miss Warburton on file today in Supreme Court.

Trysts between the two in Atlantic City and Chicago were charged in the court papers. Mrs. Healy also asserted the rift between her and her husband was widened by Miss Warburton's action in sending her car and chauffeur for Healy to the stage door when he appeared at theaters here.

Among the precious gifts she heaped upon her husband, Mrs. Healy asserted, were a diamond ring, a diamond encrusted cigaret case, a gold-headed walking stick and a wrist watch.

She also charged Healy was lured by prospects of riches and the social position he would attain as Miss Warburton's husband.

THREE ESCAPE PRISON CAGE, KILL TRUSTY

'Murder Farm' Convict Run Down by Auto as Daring Trio Bolts Georgia Pen

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Aubrey Smith, Abe Powers and Roy Gardner escaped from a steel cage at the state penal farm here today and their speeding automobile killed a trusty who tried to stop them.

The trusty was John S. Williams, principal in Georgia's notorious "murder farm mystery" of 1921-22. He was serving a life sentence on charges of killing several Negroes.

Williams and several guards attempted to stop the three as they sped from town in a stolen automobile. Authorities said the fugitives turned the machine into the crowd, clipped Williams, and disappeared into the night. The 70-year-old trusty died in a few minutes.

ESCAPES OFTEN

Smith was the prison pall of Leland Harvey and Jack Martin, and together they composed Georgia's notorious "Houdini trio." Harvey and Martin escaped last week from the prison. Smith was serving a long term from a series of robberies. He has escaped frequently.

Powers, member of what was known as the Woodward bunco gang, was one of the state's most highly publicized prisoners.

Gardner was serving a short sentence.

KEPT IN CAGE

The three men were confined to the tuberculosis camp and were quartered in a portable steel cage. Authorities said they either cut the bars or broke the lock of their open air prison.

The escape brought three of Georgia's most notorious criminals back into the limelight. Williams' case was notorious several years ago. The state charged he operated a "murder farm" near Monticello, Ga., holding Negroes in peonage and killing them when they threatened to expose him. The number who met death on the farm was never determined.

HONOR SLAYERS YOUTHS AT ODDS EXPECT LIBERTY IN DEATH TRIAL

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 26.—(INS.)—Word from friends of four Americans charged with killing a native suspected of an attack upon a naval officer's pretty young bride was that the quartet were confident they would be freed from custody today.

The four, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men, charged with the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, believed the territorial grand jury in session today would not indict them for murder. They were in custody on board the warship Alton. The "unwritten law" was said to be playing a large part in the deliberations of the jury.

Prosecution of Kahahawai's four companions in the attack upon Mrs. Thalia Massie was taken from the hands of County Attorney James Gilliland today by joint action of the Bar Association and the Chamber of Commerce. Eugene H. Beebe, a member of the Hawaiian House of Representatives, was named to prosecute the four natives.

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 26.—(INS.)—Two jurors had been selected today for the trial of William Schemnitzer and Stanley Chero, Broughton (Pa.) youths accused of the murder of Sergt. John E. Frey, of the New York state police near here last March.

Appearances in Rensselaer County Court today indicated the two co-defendants are hostile toward each other. They are represented in the joint trial by separate lawyers and the only time their attorneys consulted each other was when they excused a prospective juror.

It was indicated by the examination of jurors that neither will take the stand during the trial, and it was also indicated by Attorney John L. Moore, representing Chero, that he will seek to prove his client did not fire the shot that killed Frey.

The findings of ballistic experts, as well as statements from the youths, indicated the fatal shot was fired by Schemnitzer.

DOCTORS WEIGH GAMBLE WITH BABY'S LIFE

Ethics Clash With Mother's Plea for Operation to Assure Child Normal Life

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Physicians will decide today whether to give 13-month-old Diane Moore a chance to escape imbecility.

The child, who was born with an unsutured skull—a skull in which there are no crevices to expand and allow the brain to grow—will be taken to the Neurological Hospital at Columbia Medical Center for a final examination.

The proposed operation is of the most delicate nature, and even with scrupulous accuracy and the highest skill, medical men say there is scarcely a chance in a thousand that the child will survive.

Her 18-year-old mother, Mrs. Lillian Moore, has given her permission for the operation—has, in fact, urged it. But, the surgeons countered, there are other things to consider besides the mother's consent. The matter of professional ethics must figure in their plans, and it is reported that the examining physicians are divided as to whether the chance with death should be taken.

REINCARNATION CULT HEAD DIES

Dr. Aron called himself the high priest of the cult to which he attracted about 30 disciples, whom, in 1929, he led on a great search for truth into the wilds of Colorado.

The western experiment broke up in dissension after one cultist, Chris Solburg, former Chicago Art Institute model, died in his tent at Peaceful Valley.

STINSON KILLED IN CRASH OF NEW PLANE

Pioneer's Latest Model Ship Plunges After Wing Hits Flagpole; 3 Others Hurt

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—One of America's most brilliant aviation careers came to a tragic end today with the death of Eddie Stinson, pioneer flier and airplane builder, from injuries received in the crash of his cabin monoplane.

Flier Stinson

The veteran aviator, whose aerial exploits have thrilled thousands, died in Illinois Central Hospital at 1 o'clock this morning, after doctors had battled through the night to save his life. He was 37 years old.

Death was caused by a crushed chest and internal injuries.

Meanwhile, Stinson's three passengers were in a hospital in serious condition from injuries received when the famous designer's newest model cabin monoplane fell to earth last night on the Jackson Park golf course.

CRASH ENDS TEST TRIP

The injured passengers were Fred M. Gillies, 36, steel company executive and president of the Chamber of Commerce of East Chicago, a former all-American football star at Cornell, who received an injured spine and a broken leg; Clarke Field, 30, Chicago representative of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation, who suffered a broken shoulder and internal injuries, and John Tompkins, 36, an East Chicago mechanic, who suffered bruises, cuts and shock.

The crash occurred after Stinson had completed a series of demonstrations of his new model at the municipal airport. He and his passengers were on their way back to Wayne, Mich., where the Stinson factory is located.

As the plane was soaring over Lake Michigan its tanks became exhausted. Lacking fuel, the famed pilot turned the ship about and headed for the Jackson Park golf course which borders the lake. He was gliding down to a safe landing when suddenly the right wing of the ship struck a 75-foot flagpole. The wing fell off and the plane dropped.

1,700,000 MILES IN AIR

Stinson, whose 1,700,000 miles in the air made him the dean of America's fliers, was so hopelessly injured when he reached the hospital that Dr. William T. Harsha said his death would be but a matter of a few hours.

Notified of his condition, the aviator's wife made immediate preparations to rush from her home in Wayne to her husband's bedside. She was about to board a plane late last night when she was advised she could not reach Chicago in time to see her husband alive. She gave up the trip.

Stinson's passion for the art of flying asserted itself at the early age of 17 in the days when anyone who took off in an aerial "crate" was regarded as a daredevil.

His first tutors in the science of aeronautics were the Wright brothers.

Remark Traps Man In Blonde's Death

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—A remark to friends that "I threw that blonde from the car" late yesterday led William Martin, 23, bakery clerk, into jail in connection with the death Friday of Winifred Page Williams, 29, who was found with a fractured skull beside a road near Culver City.

Martin denying guilt, and declaring that he made the remark only as a joke, is held for questioning.

SENDING ULTRA-SHORT WAVES—

L. E. MOUROMTSEFF — DR. DAYTON ULREY

Scientists at East Pittsburgh testing their new use of ultra-short radio waves. The waves are extremely short (read story to the right), are like light waves and thus are "reflected—"

MARS RADIO TESTS REVEALED

Westinghouse Men Demonstrate Use Of Short Wave

The use of ultra-short radio waves, capable of penetrating the heaviside atmospheric layer surrounding the earth, and possibly of traveling the 35,000,000 miles to Mars, or other far planets, was demonstrated yesterday at the Westinghouse Research Laboratories by L. W. Chubb, director of research, and I. E. Mouromtseff, research engineer of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Mouromtseff believes that radio waves and light waves are identical, except in wave length, and all radio or "dark light" waves less than seven meters long can penetrate the Heaviside layer and leave the earth. He said:

"It is conceivable that the power in our 42-centimeter beam is sufficient to travel to Mars because nearly all the intervening space is a vacuum and does not absorb waves once they get through the earth's atmosphere."

The possible eventual applications of ultra short waves afford exciting stimuli to the imagination. Intercommunication on radio-optical waves is dependable and almost immune to theft, interruption and interference, according to the engineers. Its operation cannot easily be crippled by an enemy. By means of reflecting surfaces, it can be sent long distances. Although it does not follow the natural curvature of the earth, the beam is directional.

His new tube unnamed!

Application Seen As Opening Up New Field

by Mouromtseff and his associates, sends the beam from station W8XI to a receiving apparatus on the roof of the engineering laboratory more than a mile away. Here a parabolic metal mirror gathers the waves, which are reflected and focused on an antenna and passed through a 199-tube Barkhausen detector to a standard broadcast receiving set where they are amplified and made audible. The spread of the beam is nine degrees. It has more power at a higher frequency than has ever been attained before.

In a searchlight, the rays originate at one point, reflect from a parabolic surface and pass out in a narrow beam. In this ultra-short wave radio set, the waves reverse this process by striking the parabolic mirror, where they are reflected to a short antenna and detector tube located at a focal point corresponding to the source of light in a searchlight.

The self-oscillating tube in the set is constructed very simply, with a direct plate voltage of 2,000. The filament voltage is very low, which will prolong the life of the tube indefinitely, it is said. The magnetic field is constant and self-controlled because the voltage fluctuates in an oscillating circuit.

HUMOR TO SAVE U. S., 'JIGGS' DECLARES

Nation's Notables Honor Famous Fun-Maker at Comic Strip Anniversary

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—America will never know the depths of despair reached by other nations in depressions because it has a monopoly on the world's humorists who play on the national funny bone.

Such was the sentiment broadcast by distinguished speakers last night at a dinner given in honor of George McManus, the creator of "Bringing Up Father" on the twentieth wedding anniversary of Jiggs and Maggie characters in the famous McManus comic strip.

The McManus cartoons and the pleasure they give the people of the United States were cited by Senator George H. Moses, president pro tempore of the Senate, and Secretary of War Hurley as proof that "the pen is mightier than the sword."

SPEECHES BROADCAST

Moses, Hurley and McManus were heard in a coast-to-coast broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System from the Willard Hotel where 300 distinguished men in business, public affairs, church and education gathered in the banquet hall to pay tribute to the famous humorist. Other speakers included Senator Thomas P. Gore, Oklahoma, and Representative John J. Cochran of St. Louis, an old friend of the artist.

In replying to the tributes and to the presentation of a bound volume of letters from such distinguished and diverse "Jiggs and Maggie" fans as Vice President Curtis, Maurice Chevalier, Emil Ludwig, the President of Venezuela, "Pepper" Martin, Morton Downey, Daniel Willard and Will H. Hays, Mr. McManus remarked:

"I have caught a glimpse of the President of the United States. He shows the strain that has hit everybody, and to him as to every other citizen, I offer my prescription with no less of confidence. I would say to Mr. Hoover, 'Just every so often, every day at least, have a look at the comics.'"

'BUGS' BAER TOASTMASTER

The speakers were presented by Arthur "Bugs" Baer, noted humorist, who served as toastmaster. Stars of the stage, screen and radio participated in the program of entertainment provided for the guests. Among them were Mario Cozzi, Metropolitan Opera Company; Peggy Keenan and Sondra Phillips, Columbia Broadcasting System; Bernice Claire, screen and stage beauty; Johnny Burke, and Meyer Davis' Orchestra.

Among the distinguished guests present were Michael MacWhite, Minister of the Irish Free State; H. E. Ververka, Minister of Czechoslovakia; Marc Peter, Minister of Switzerland; Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of Labor Doak, and James C. Stone, chairman, Federal Farm Board.

Senators Joe T. Robinson, Alben Barkley, J. Hamilton Lewis, Robert F. Wagner, Tom Connolly, Thomas P. Gore, Arthur Capper, Tasker Oddie, Otis F. Glenn, Frederick Hale, Smith Brookhart, Robert Carey, Hiram Bingham, Marcus Coolidge, Ellison D. Smith, Duncan Fletcher, Waler George, Lynn Frazier, Arthur Robinson, Daniel Hastings, Burton K. Wheeler, Harry Hawes, James J. Davis, James Byrnes, Robert Bulkley, M. M. Neely, Frederick Steiwer.

NOTABLES ATTEND

Patrick E. Crowley, president New York Central; Lawrence Richey, Secretary to the President; Joseph P. Tumulty, L. C. Clark, chancellor, American University; Bascom N. Simmons, president, National Press Club; Joseph V. Connolly, president, Universal Service and International News Service; Percy Crosby, cartoonist-author and creator of "Skippy;" Mayor Jackson, of Baltimore; John S. Hotel Bomb Routs 200, Woman Hurt

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—Labor disputes were blamed today for the mysterious explosion of a giant bomb in the rear of the Crest Apartment Hotel, which injured a young woman and wrought heavy property damage.

Mrs. Hilda Lamonde, 25, was severely cut by flying glass from one of the numerous windows shattered by the explosion. The blast routed 200 tenants of the building and demolished several automobiles which were parked in the neighborhood.

FAIL TO REACH DEBT ACCORD

PARIS, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Difficulties have developed in the way of bringing Premier Laval and Prime Minister MacDonald together for discussion of debts and reparations, it was learned today on good authority.

Both here and in London it has been expected for several days that the two government heads would meet, but the preliminary negotiations have struck a snag and reliable reports said the two governments are so far apart in their demands that their representatives have been unable to hit upon a formula with which both might approach Germany and the United States.

COUNTY'S TAX RATE TO BE SET

The County Commissioners expect to set the 1932 millage today. Hoping to keep it at 9⅝ mills, the same as last year, they were again to hear the Poor Directors on their demand for a one and one-half mill increase to three mills.

When the Poor Directors appeared before the Board of Commissioners yesterday they were not able to answer detailed questions concerning their fiscal affairs. M. C. Conick, chief auditor for the Commissioners, went to Woodville yesterday afternoon to get the figures.

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—John Wesley De Kay, former American banker and internationally known promoter, was ordered arrested today in a warrant charging him with defrauding the Lucerne Bank of about $30,000.

Phillips Sees Gains In Electrical Field

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Frank R. Phillips, of Pittsburgh, president of the Philadelphia Company, painted a bright future for the electrical industry in an address before employes of the Philadelphia Electric Company last night. Engineering developments are still proceeding at a rapid rate, he said, declaring.

"It is fair to expect that there is still a tremendously large job ahead for us in keeping pace with these developments and making available to our customers the new uses for electricity as they are developed."

MILLS DEMANDS BANK 'COURAGE'

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Ogden L. Mills, under secretary of the Treasury, sounded the Tocsin last night for bankers "the courageous kind" to halt credit deflation.

Mills told bankers at the banquet of the American Acceptance Council:

"Credit deflation should be arrested, and the flow of credit to the great financial centers should be reversed."

Success of the $2,000,000,000 Federal Reconstruction Corporation depends largely on co-operation of banks, he said.

Improvement in economic conditions has been retarded the last three months due to a "psychology of fear," he declared. Banks have been destroying deposits to make themselves liquid. They sell investments or call loans.

Death Halts Game Of Aged Couple In Home

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Alice Anderson, 63, started a game of solitaire Sunday night. Her husband, John, looked on.

A neighbor called yesterday and found Mrs. Anderson with the ace of clubs in her hand about to complete a row of four aces. Her husband stared intently.

Death had finished the game. Both were dead from gas fumes. A defective heater was blamed.

CHURCHES URGE DISARMAMENT

HARRISBURG, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—The Pennsylvania Council of Churches continued its convention sessions here today. The gathering will conclude with a public meeting tonight.

Addressing a meeting of 700 persons, Dr. Fred B. Smith, chairman of the executive committee of World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, declared that "until the Christian church throws its full support into disarmament, there can be no hope for world peace."

He said:

"The Christian church was hurt worst in her betrayal of humanity in entering the World War, and she will hobble for the next 100 years as the result of her hurt."

He attributed the past failures to bring about international peace to a lack of moral sanction.

State Auto Income For Roads Decreases

With a large decrease in motor vehicle registrations and a slight one in gasoline taxes in Pennsylvania during 1931, receipts during the year for the state motor fund for the construction and maintenance of highways fell nearly $2,000,000 short of 1930 receipts, according to the Pittsburgh Motor Club.

The decrease was chiefly due to a decline in registrations, which dropped nearly 13,000 in the passenger car class, officials said. Commercial car registrations declined nearly 1,400 and buses, 440 during the year.

Be sure you hear Walker Moore and his popular dance orchestra at the Auto Show.

'VOICE' SEARCH DRAWS MANY

Girls with "sweet" voices are evidently not in the minority in Pittsburgh and vicinity. If the number of nominations the Sun-Telegraph has received for the distinction of being the girl with the sweetest voice is a barometer New York City is in the background. New York recently selected their girl with the sweetest voice and boasted of 8,000 nominations. The number of girls in Pittsburgh who think that they can qualify for this distinction is already far in excess of that figure.

Nominations are being tabulated and arrangements completed to give this army of "sweetest" voices an audition. In a day or two letters will go out telling the candidates all about the arrangements.

It isn't too late to enter the contest. The girl who wins the girl with a voice that has charm, a friendly expression, mellow and golden, will be given an opportunity to appear in a special radio program sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph on station WCAE. Bear in mind that this is a speaking voice that is being sought. A good singing voice should have many of the essentials required in a speaking voice. Clip and mail the nomination blank on this page if you want to take advantage of this unusual opportunity.

Immediately she sensed trouble. "Don't you worry," she reassured the child. "Somebody's coming!" and quickly she connected another line to police headquarters.

Within a few minutes a police car was at the child's home. It was none too soon. A valve on the furnace had jammed, the escapes discovered, and the boiler was perilously near exploding.

BRITISH PRISON ATTACK FEARED

PRINCETON, England, Jan. 26 (INS)—One hundred heavily armed British soldiers, comprising two platoons of the Worcester regiment, today were placed at strategic positions about Dartmoor Prison in anticipation of an attack upon the institution's walls by friends of inmates.

A few hours after quiet had been restored following Sunday's desperate jailbreak attempt, officials learned of a widespread plot to liberate certain of the prison's most vicious criminals through outside aid. The attempt according to plans, was to be made today.

The government troops manned four machine-gun nests, placed where they could at once fire down into the prison yard or out onto the main highways leading to Dartmoor.

The new jailbreak attempt was to be synchronized, inmates rioting again as their friends attacked from the outside, it was reported.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

YOU can replace the old tubes in most radios with a complete set of RCA Radiotrons at prices ranging from $5.10 to $9.20. Lowest prices ever offered on standard tubes.

At 14 Lola was pounding the ivories in an Iowa chin-ema house. Then came the "breaks"—and her weekly Good News jumped from $45 to $450. Ouch! She's a racqueteer . . . formerly women's tennis champeen of the Southwest. Her last picture, "EX-BAD BOY," was Universally acclaimed. Lola Lane has smoked LUCKIES for two years . . . Her signed statement has no purse-strings attached to it. And so we have good reason to say, "Much obliged, Lola."

"I know my LUCKIES—my throat told me the first time I smoked one how kind they are. And it's been LUCKIES ever since. LUCKIES are the only cigarettes I can smoke before singing that do not give me a sore throat. Your improved Cellophane wrapper is great, too. That easy opening tab is a stroke of genius."

CORRECT FUR NAMES URGED

Use of misleading names in designating furs should be eliminated, according to a bulletin issued by the Pittsburgh Better Business Bureau.

According to the bulletin, the proper description of the fur known as China bear is Chinese goat. Baltic red fox should be natural red rabbit. Black Manchurian fox should be black-dyed Manchurian dogskin. For Belgian lynx, the advertisement should read black-dyed hare. Russian marten is marten-dyed American opossum. Alaska sable is really sable-dyed raccoon.

G. H. Dennison, of the Better Business Bureau, warns against peddlers selling furs from door to door.

OPPOSE POLICE, FIREMEN CUT

Charging that homes and business establishments were menaced, the Stanton Heights Community Association yesterday protested to City Council against pensioning of more than 262 police and firemen as an economy move. The association demanded that the officers and firemen be restored to duty.

Council today also was to receive a proposal from Public Safety Director James M. Clark to restore the men to duty. The plan was outlined by President John Heinz, of the Firemen's Protective Association, and transmitted to Clark.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 25c and 65c.

Soon Relieved of Backache by A-nuric

F. H. PETERS

Erie, Pa.—"My back was so lame and stiff it was hard for me to turn over in bed. I would have sharp, darting pains, like neuralgia, go up my back, and they would take away my breath—I would not be able to move," said F. H. Peters of 20 E. 24th St. "This trouble came on following a severe cold affecting my kidneys, as I noticed a burning of the secretion, also nocticed spots appearing before my eyes, and stiffening of the muscles. I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's A-nuric. I had taken only half a bottle when I noticed a decided change and was soon relieved of my pains and aches."

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

The most important event of the week socially speaking will be the Rowe Harper wedding Saturday, of course. And entertainments for Eleanor Hurtte Rowe, the bride-to-be, are numerous. She'll wed Nelson Vance Harper, of Wheeling, in the home of her parents, the Wallace Hurtte Rowes, Morewood avenue.

Added to the parties I've already mentioned is the wedding breakfast to be given by the David A. Coopers of Philadelphia and Wilhelmina Balken on Saturday in the Twentieth Century Club. Mrs. Cooper, who'll be one of the matrons of honor at the ceremony, is the former Virginia Furey.

Among those coming on for the wedding will be Mrs. E. F. Bushnell and her daughter, Louise, of New York and Dorothy Fuller of Greenwich.

* * *

One of the events everyone is anticipating is the comic production of the Stage and Play Society on Tuesday, February 16, in the Twentieth Century Club. And after the play there'll be the usual supper for members of the cast.

Play to Be Given

Mrs. Edward J. House and Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby are aiding Carroll Fitzhugh, who's directing Pistol for One, one of his own plays.

The James B. Drews are at the St. Regis in New York. The Marcus Rauhs of the Ruskin apartments have been at Chalfonte-Haddon Hall, Atlantic City.

2 Performances Being Staged Here Today

To increase interest in story telling, especially through puppeteering, the Allegheny County Girl Scouts have brought Katherine Dallan, of New York City, here for a series of one-woman puppet shows. Miss Dallan, who is one-half the Ragbag Alley Puppet Company (her sister Weslyer Dallan being the other half) gave a show in the First Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg yesterday afternoon and another in the Second Ward School, Crafton, delighting both audiences of youngsters and grown-ups. This afternoon she will appear in the Bellevue Presbyterian Church and tonight in the Hillsdale School, Dormont.

Miss Dallan uses home-made puppets and gives the show entirely unaided.

Election of delegates to the forty-first Continental Congress will take place Friday at the meeting of Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. For its musical program yesterday the Pittsburgh Literary and Musical Club heard Adele Eggers Furniss, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. J. T. Lober; Carrie Fielding Rebenack, contralto, and Viola Voelker, accompanied by Bernadette Horrell. The literary portion of the afternoon's entertainment consisted of papers by Mrs. Walter Ure, Mrs. H. P. Stone and Mrs. J. W. Summs, who discussed early and present churches and religious customs of the United States.

INTRICATE DETAILS FEATURE NEW MODE

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The scissors is going to work overtime for the next few weeks, since the best frocks and suits are a mass of bits and pieces. No longer the skirt with a few pleats judiciously placed, but a skirt that owes its existence to empiecements that are as important for detail as they are for making the general silhouette. Clothes of this kind have the expensive air that is the joy and despair of every woman. Skillful cutting and handling of the material is not easily duplicated and this alone makes the garment of the sartorial elite. Piecings are handled with a mathematical precision that still allows for considerable ingenuity and originality in the design, and makes of even the simplest model a work of art and science. The gamut has been run in design, trimming, color contrast and fabric, and so all that is left is a silhouette determined by a maze of complicated piecings.

* * *

THE DRESS is by the Maison Marie St. Martin. It is in coarse wool jersey called "Brigette" and is in a flattering bottle green shade. Here is the new intricacy of detail, as exemplified by the intricate zig-zag seaming on bodice and skirt. Three hand-embroidered tabs edge the front of the bodice.

Drama Always Social Force, Dr. Baker Shows

Showing that the drama has always been a social and moral force, Dr. George Pierce Baker, head of Yale's drama school, sketched the history of the theater before the Twentieth Century Club yesterday. From the time of the first Little Theater, built by a colony of Greeks on a windblown ridge off the shores of Sicily to the propaganda plays of today, Dr. Baker, dean of the American drama, showed how the drama has intimated changes of, as he put it, "revealed man to the masses of men."

Some of the ancient Greeks, he said, were accused of being too modern because they drew their characters into the range of the possible human and the characters were played in terms of people who might have been living at the very moment.

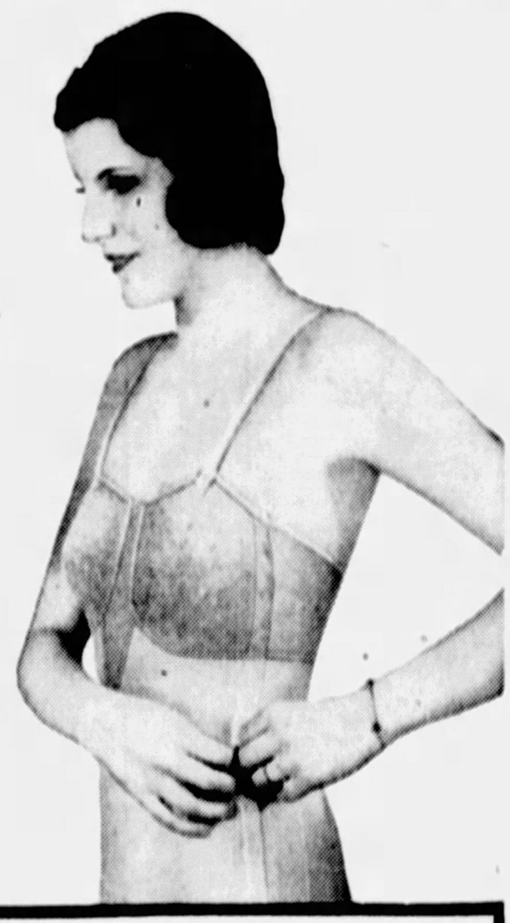
PEG: Imagine it! A nice girl like Anne wearing her underthings a second day.

FRAN: And she's so dainty in other ways...

PEG: Of course, she's awfully busy—

FRAN: But our way is so quick and easy! It just floats out the perspiration acids and odors... why doesn't she



Protect daintiness this simple 4-minute way:

All day long underthings absorb perspiration. To avoid offending, dainty women wash them in Lux after every wearing. Lux is especially made to remove perspiration acids and odors completely, yet to protect colors and fabrics. And it takes only 4 minutes, or less!

Wash this 4-minute way:
1. One tablespoon of Lux does all one day's underthings—stockings, too.
2. Squeeze suds through garment, rinse twice, shake out.

Wash after each wearing for perspiration acids left in silk fade colors and rot the threads. With Lux it takes only a few minutes—less time than it takes to wash your face and hands.

Never rub dainty lingerie with cake soap. Rubbing tends to streak colors and weaken fabrics. Lux removes perspiration acids and odors completely—yet leaves colors like new. If it's safe in water alone, it's just as safe in Lux.

Don't use too-warm water. Lux gives instant suds in lukewarm water, won't fade colors or shrink fabrics.

LUX for underthings keeps them like new... in spite of frequent washing

Aiello Trio

Schenley Ballroom

PROGRAM

Trio, D Minor ..... Mendelssohn
Trio, A Minor ..... Tschaikowsky
Tema con Variazioni
Trio, G Minor ..... Chausson

A new chamber music group, the Aiello Trio, made its bow to Pittsburgh last night in the Schenley Ballroom. Rose Aiello, violinist; Alyce Martin, violoncellist, and Eveline Palmieri, pianist, all associated with the music department of Carnegie Tech, make up the ensemble, a threesome of very earnest and capable players.

Mr. Lissfelt

The program showed three imposing works for trio, all of them lusciously melodious and technically trying. The players displayed, first of all, concern for true intonation and rhythm. If at the beginning the piano seemed to over-assert its voice, and the 'cello to be slightly apologetic, by the time Chausson's turn came on the program the tone was finely balanced. There is a vigorous drive in the tempi of this group which may yet be tempered with more nuance, but at present, among so young players, it is a sign of life and kept the large audience interested to the last.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Tragedy of Atonement Grips Audience Again In the Nixon

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Justification for another lengthy review of "Mourning Becomes Electra," which gripped the audience at the opening of its second and final week in the Nixon last night, if any be needed, can be found in the fact that Eugene O'Neill mentally is a man of many meridians of longitude and many parallels of latitude.

One proof of it lies in the fact that O'Neill needs what he calls three plays, although there actually is only one—in fourteen scenes—to tell what Euripides told in one drama for the gist of the Grecian theme of revenge that dominates much of "Mourning Becomes Electra" is all condensed in the "Electra" of Euripides, which is being excellently presented by the drama students of Tech in their own little theater just now.

TIME IS WELL SPENT

Yet the most of the extended time that O'Neill takes to paint his powerful picture of frustration and gloom is time well expended for the picture is all too complete a majestic canvas that, in its essentials, it seems to the writer is an effective denial of the complete justice of the Mosaic code of eye for eye, tooth for tooth. But, what seems more important the new O'Neill opus appears to have a spiritual quality that shrieks the doctrine of atonement in its very title—"Mourning Becomes Electra."

It is a new thing we believe for O'Neill to become spiritual and there may be many who cannot see anything of an uplifting nature in this stark melodrama that begins in the brooding of a girl who has discovered her mother's infidelity, but which, as it sweeps inexorably through all of the vengeful stream that parallels the Grecian Electra's reduction of Orestes' horror of matricide to compliance, develops into a purposeful idea that is as old as the legend that the fiddler must be paid by the dancer. So our Electra goes into mourning as it is beseeming she should.

O'NEILL IS COMPLEX

Mr. Genius O'Neill is a complex person, and it is often difficult, no matter how interesting theatrically, to decipher exactly what he wants us to know in his plays, which always have had a mystical quality. He sees people obviously serving a purpose or appearing not to serve any purpose; thinks he has found out what it is all about; this happiness, this suffering, this defeat of purposes, this deflection of aims—so he tries to make us understand.

That he uses in this instance a favorite Greek theme of ancient classical dramatists does not warrant the assumption that same purpose is intended. Under the moral code that centered in the gods of Olympus murder was all right if the gods willed it, otherwise wrong. And oracles were fickle. Hence the Electra theme. The house of Atreus, founded on murder, willed, we assume, by the gods, produces an Agamemnon, a good murderer, too, and when he is slain by Aegisthus, who marries the not-too-sorrowful widow there is left the daughter, Electra, to prod her brother, Orestes, and induce him to slay both betrayers of their father's bed.

MIND HAS ITS MASTERS

That was all the will of the gods and, in paralleling it, O'Neill shows the overmastering will of the mind, and, in turn, its own masters—conscience, remorse, atonement, retribution. For simplitude he has taken a rotting family of New England. For perspective he has taken the close of the Civil War, which gives further realism to the symbolism that associates his time and scene with those that followed the fall of ancient Troy.

On such a foundation he has built a psychological drama of much strength, much horror and great final truth, that being that mourning becomes Electra as nothing else could become her. Yet it still could be effective drama with half the padding removed.

Since the excellencies of the acting have been told previously, it is not necessary to repeat. The highly capable cast has Judith Anderson, Florence Reed, Walter Abel, Crane Wilbur and Thurston Hall in the major roles. Seth Arnold shines in the principal minor part.

Vienna Still Is Lovers' Capital

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Nothing has changed in Vienna since Johann Strauss wrote his waltzes and the head waiter at the first sign of spring commanded the bus boy to carry the garden out to the sidewalk. Lovers still play at hide-and-seek court etiquette still makes trouble for beating hearts, and after all their difficulties they still find each other and beat as one.

George Seibel

Which describes the picture at the German Cinema this week, with the title "Ihre Hoheit Befiehlt" ("Her Highness Commands") and two delightful young people, Willy Fritsch and Kaethe von Nagy, as the lovers.

They meet at a servants' ball, where she pretends to be a manicure and he poses as a clerk in a delicatessen store. Of course she is a princess, and he also isn't what he seems. Of course the minister of state, played by Reinhold Schuenzel with pompous exuberance, tries to stop the mesalliance. And of course he is foiled at every turn by Her Highness' commands.

Some of the songs have real hittishness—if there's no such noun there ought to be. "A dash of pepper, a dash of salt" and "You brought love into the house for me" are especially whistlable—if there's no such adjective there ought to be. So it's another week of enjoyment for the folks who like to see the course of true love run smooth in Vienna, as it always will.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26.

All the way from Europe comes news that Corinne Griffith, once known as the most beautiful woman of the screen, will stage a comeback in a picture for Paramount.

When I set about confirming this, the studio was advised of the plan, but not the name of the picture.

Richard Barthlmess, who knew Corinne and Walter Morosco very well, thinks the film will be made in England as a part of Paramount's British quota. Walter, of course, already has produced for this company at its Joinville studio, near Paris.

Corinne Griffith

Checking back, it was last April when Walter and Corinne left Hollywood where the talkies had proved unkind. Since that time, Corinne has been studying diction and animation.

According to Dick, the Moroscos expect to pay the film colony a visit this summer.

THE HUMANE THING

Film cowboys are passing along the story of Dick Arlen's wisecrack at the expense of Big Boy Gumn Williams.

Big Boy was attempting to lasso a horse. Several times it was driven by him and he missed.

Arlen, who was an onlooker, finally remarked:

"If you're going to keep this up until you do it, you'd better feed the horse."

DAY'S GOSSIP

Mrs. Edgar Wallace will turn producer February 1, when her husband's play, "The Green Pack," opens in London. Wallace expects her to join him in Hollywood, March 15. . . Jack Oakie, 'tis said, has gone completely non compos mentis over Sari Maritza. . . Norwood Stewart writes me that Joe Cobb (remember the fat boy in "Our Gang"?) is going to school in Dallas, Tex. Also that Joan Blondell got a hoist towards Broadway when she appeared in a Dallas bathing beauty contest. . . Mervyn Leroy asks men if he did right in buying 1,000 shares of stock at two minus. . . Lydo Roberti, who draws a Paramount contract, waited on table in China when her show stranded there. . . Wallace Ford picked his screen name in a dramatic way. He was hobo[illegible] and his companion fell under a train and was killed. Wallace took his name. . . What next? A Hollywood stunt man carries a bed up in a blimp. At 2,000 feet, he attaches a parachute to the bed and pushes off. . . Wallace Beery asks me to suggest this simile to Walter Winchell: "As cold as Gandhi in a rumble seat."

ARIAS ON SCREEN

Another attempt to bring grand operas to motion pictures will limit them to two reels. H. E. Kendall is producing the series for Educational. His current offering, "Martha," will be directed by Howard Higgins and Ignacio Castillo, formerly of the Boston Opera. Fay Wray's sister, Willow, will take a singing lead.

$750.00 Cash Offered For Name of Movie Actress

Reward Will Be Paid Everyone Who Submits Most Suitable Name

From Hollywood comes an extraordinary announcement. A movie actress is in need of a name, and $750.00 in cash will be paid for the best suggestion. You can give her yours, or any other name you think of, it may mean $750.00 to you.

This movie actress, whom you have probably seen on the screen of your favorite motion picture theatre, is the beautiful Helen Mann. Like most of the stars, she prefers to use a name other than her own, and in order to help her obtain it, $750.00 in cash is offered to anyone who is quick in sending in the name selected. Miss Mann's publicity director says, "Most any name may win." It may be your very own, a name of a friend or relative, or a coined name, made up by you. Readers of this announcement are urged to send their suggestions for a name at once, because $250.00 extra will be given the winner if name is mailed and postmarked before January 31, 1932. Just make it easy to pronounce and easy to remember. But send it right away, or you may be late for the promptness prize.

All entries must be sent to the Publicity Director's office, E. A. Williams, Studio AA 681, 1023 N. Sycamore Ave., Hollywood, California. Only one suggestion for a name should be submitted by each contestant. Everyone is invited to submit a name, and in case of ties, duplicate awards will be given. Officials say that any name may win the $750.00, even if submitted on a post card or scrap of paper. If you can use $750.00, here is an opportunity to get it. Send your suggestion at once.

A RAISE in PAY

There's real economy in serving Shredded Wheat—and that means more buying power for the family income. There's good health in such a nourishing, wholesome food—and that helps toward greater earnings for the family provider.

Shredded Wheat offers lots of food for the money. It is a complete meal when served with milk, giving you all the essential food elements in balanced form. It is rich in vitamins too, and also provides plenty of bran in a healthful way. Shredded Wheat is just pure whole wheat, steam cooked, shredded and baked, to make it easily digestible and delightfully tasty. No wonder it is so popular these days when you want all you can get for your money!

Serve it tomorrow with hot milk—the whole family will enjoy it.

Things I Knew All Along

(But which you very likely didn't!)

That every time a passenger sits down (as if he could sit up!) in a dining car, it costs the company 33 cents before the waiter takes his order. (How the officials must love the coffee-and-toasters!)

That there now is a bank paper which, when treated with acid, or rubbed with an eraser, brings to the surface the word "Forged!"

That among other things, Broadway originally was called Heere Straat or the Heere Wegh. (To many it now is Blahway.)

That in the game of bridge more can be said and understood by experts in two words than can possibly be said in any language.

That in the British Navy mustaches are taboo by themselves—you must also grow chin spinach or come clean.

That Viscount Lascelles (Princess Mary's better-hawf) doesn't even tip taxi-drivers a farthing (½ cent to you!).

That the human tongue cannot produce the sound of "wh" as in what. Therefore it is pronounced "hwat"—except in Brooklyn, where they say "wot."

That in 19-Dirty-One depositors withdrew more than $200,000,000 from banks and placed it in Postal Savings accts. And that the P. O. Dep't immediately redeposited every $ of it in the banks at a profit!

That P. Revere's night-riding partner wasn't J. Drew, but Bill Dawes, who came in second, like a lotta guys I know.

That in Washington, D. C., they say, you can ride 60 blocks for 20 cents. (Or am I being kidded, Miss Dietz?)

That California got another shock when the Army air force, after long tests, determined the best climate is to be found at San Antonio, Tex., where it is locating "The West Point of the Air."

That while you are in the act of swallowing food, breathing is temporarily suspended.

That 23 nations have suspended the gold standard in the last three years.

That when shelled nuts are kept in a closed jar for some time a film collects on the inner jar. (The film is soap!)

That in South Africa baboons are trained to work on farms and do twice the labor of native farm-hands.

That a Canadian Mounted officer recently escorted a lunatic back to civilization. But because of hardships endured on the trip, the nut became sane and the Mountie became a madman!

That Boston, in 1751, prohibited plays—arguing that it was wasting time seeing them and money spent for admission was lost.

That if you can say of anyone that he "got drunk" it is grammatically correct to say he "got married." (See "Get" in Webster's.)

That Schopenhauer, the world's gloomiest pessimist, once surprised everyone by asserting that the three most beautiful things on earth were love's first kiss, the color blue and the chord of the minor Seventh.

That present day New York would hardly agree—it would be "Minnie the Moocher," a ham and swiss on rye, and a pass to a hit.

That Garbo is that way toward the press because of the publicity about Jack Gilbert (when there wasn't any romance at the time), which gravely wounded her real heart in Sweden.

That it wasn't the fault of the press, at all, but the fault of her exploiters, who first promoted the tale.

That the way Paramount raved over Jackie Searle you'd think they'd give him a raise. (So they gave him the gate.)

That a Japanese woman may never bring a suit for divorce against her husband, but hubby, for any reason, may air his wife.

That a Midwest college, after arduous experimentation, discovered that financial worries upset sleep! (No kiddin'?)

That the world's third best seller is "Robinson Crusoe."

That a lotta men with political and monetary influence who possess yachts do not buy their Wyoming Ketchup from bootleggers.

That water conducts electricity. Ice doesn't.

That college "fraternities" are not that at all, but only places where a "brother" is sure he cannot borrow money.

And that the reason the Prohibition Act was and is unconstitutional is that at the time of its passage only 28 of the states had Femme Suffrage. So why were all women permitted to vote on that subject—when State Suffrage gives one the franchise to vote on local or state issues only? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ? ?

Academy Has Flappers

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

It is stated that the comedy angle dominates the version of "The Merchant of Venice" that will be presented in the Nixon next week with Maude Adams as Portia and Otis Skinner as Shylock. The play marks the return to the stage of Miss Adams after 15 years, and the interest of playgoers likely will be that of seeing in a Shakespearean role the lady of ethereal quality who did so much to make the sentimentalities of Barrie popular on the American stage. The play opens next Tuesday for five nights and two matinees, and the box office will greet prospects Thursday.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Do You Go About Pointing Out People's Frailties?

Do you get all steamed up when folks do something of which you don't approve?

Do you feel that the human race is going to the dogs—And begin to snort—"There ought to be a law—" etc.?

This column is full of folks like that—

Folks who can't stand human frailties unless those frailties happen to be their own.

And Harry was one of them.

Harry wanted to wreck the world because folks chewed gum.

He alone—to hear him tell it—was the only Really Refined Guy in his acquaintance.

And here comes Lydia to tell him and his kind exactly where to get off. And does she do it? Lady—lady! Lydia makes a Chicago machine gun operator look like a checker player.

"Dear Sally:

"I hope you won't object to me writing the following letter to dear Lil Harry, who made such a hog because some folks chewed gum on the street cars. The gum part doesn't amount to much to my mind but Harry's crabbiness gets my goat.

"I just want to say this—Harry ate has the fact that you had the patience to keep your opinion of gum chewing to yourself all this time is certainly surprising considering how hot up you are about it. How'd ya do it?

"I quite agree with you that chewing gum may be a silly and unattractive habit whether a man or a woman does it. But may I be so bold as to ask what business is it of yours whether they chew or not?"

HAVE GOOD QUALITIES

"No one is compelling you to look at gum chewers. If we all were to go through life picking on other people's petty faults, such as chewing gum, or doing other little things that may not appeal to us we're going to miss a lot. There are many noble qualities to be found just for the looking, even in such lowly persons as those who chew gum.

"Why concentrate on people's faults. Are you perfect? Are you sure that you don't do things that give people the jitters. Are you 'kissable'? Or do you go around looking like something out of the ashcan when you feel like it . . . without considering how you may rasp other people's delicate sensibilities?

"So far as Why do people chew is concerned, I suppose they chew because they like it. Or perhaps ladies chew to keep their jaw muscles in good condition for further use—and perhaps a 'Big Strong He-Man' or even a little runt—chews so as to keep his mind off punching some Wet Smack like you on the nose."

DOESN'T NEED GUM

However, I suppose people like you must live and be fed, even if you can't find anything above gum chewing in the rest of the human race.

Ho-hum! It must be terribly miserable to have to live among people without any spark of delicacy.

You fortunately don't need to chew gum to keep your jaws working. You have the gift of gabbing about nothing which serves the same purpose as chewing—i. e. exercising with no visible results except strengthening your jaws for more chewing or gabbing.

You and all the rest of these people who go around continually finding fault give me a pain. Why don't you look at something else besides other folks mistakes? You'll be a lot happier if you forget about them for a while, and hunt for something pleasant.

"LYDIA."

And if that isn't a record sermon on tolerance, I'm a Bed Time Story!

Household Hints

By putting very little water into freshly heated milk and standing the jug at once in cold water, no skin is formed on the top.

A solution of one teaspoonful of Epsom salts to one quart of water is excellent to set the color in colored clothes. It will greatly prevent running if not altogether prevent it.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Loves Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Is Invited to Hear Reading of Third Act

Both Dicky and I stopped short at Lillian's query whether it was Dicky's idea that he should listen to my third act at once. Secretly I was greatly relieved at her question, for though I had no time to consider it, subconsciously I knew that possible, nay, almost inevitable trouble would arise from reading my third act to Dicky before I had had an opportunity to revise it. Dicky's brow narrowed to a frown, the greatest indication of displeasure which he ever permits himself with Lillian, to whom he owes an old debt of gratitude so great that the chivalrous, devoted friendship of a lifetime has not been too much to give in repayment.

"That was my 'little idea,'" he echoed Lillian's words mockingly. "What might your big idea be?"

"I can give it to you in words of one syllable, or thereabouts," Lillian retorted promptly.

"Madge has dictated this thing at white heat. She hasn't any idea herself what it's going to be like. I've typed it, and I say that it's the best thing in its line I've seen for many a day. But she has only my word for it. When she reads it over for revision she's going to be more nervous than any cat, but I hope she's going to be sane enough to see what a really big thing she's done."

"Well!" Dicky demanded aggrievedly, "what's the matter with me acting as shock absorber?"

"Nothing, except that you'd double in brass and also play the role of a wet blanket," Lillian replied caustically. "Madge, herself, probably would sit up, begging for words of wisdom from your sapient lips. But she mustn't have them until after she's had the chance to go 'into the silence' with the darn thing and revise it to suit her own fancy. When she's done that, if there's any time left before old Phil rings the door bell at 3 o'clock then by all means have her read it to you. But she ought not be swayed by anything except her own judgment while she's making the first revision. Don't you agree with me?"

As she put the question she whirled upon him with swift challenge in her eyes.

"Did you ever know anybody in all of your iniquitous life who had the temerity to disagree with you?" Dicky retorted sulkily, yet twisting his lips into the reluctant grin with which he usually accepts Lillian's strictures.

"Well, hardly ever.'" Lillian smiled smugly at him. "But this time I'm most specially right, so run along, lad, and sell your papers. If you can keep your mouth shut and won't make Madge nervous you can sit by and sharpen her pencils while she revises. But don't you dare open your mouth till the finishes, or the brains are likely to be spilled all over the place."

She turned abruptly as she finished, and going into her own room closed the door after her. Dicky and I were left staring at each other.

"Of course, Lil is right," Dicky said dully after a second or two. "I'll be getting along and letting you alone."

My judgment and my common sense urged me to let him go, but there was a little-boy-disappointment in his voice that tugged at my heart and made me throw all considerations but one to the winds.

"You'll do no such thing," I said hotly. "Lillian typed this thing, but after all I dictated it. It's my party, not hers, and if I want you to come and help me revise it I think I'm entitled to the privilege, so come in here with me." I opened the door of my room invitingly.

He hesitated. "Are you sure you want me?" he asked.

"Positive," I answered, ashamed that the words, while the truth, could not strictly finish the quotation and be called the "whole truth."

His face lightened and as he followed me into the room I guessed that something deeper than mere prideful desire to see what I had written lay underneath his acceptance of my invitation. I believed that there was a fear in his mind of being shut out from this new work of mine.

"Sit down," I said hospitably, but he waited until he had put me into my own chair in front of my desk before he took the seat I had indicated.

"Got any pencils to be sharpened?" he asked with a grin.

"I must justify myself in Lil's eyes, you know."

"Sorry," I said smiling, "but I have six perfectly sharpened ones."

"I might have known it," he said with a gibing grin.

"If you dare call me Efficiency Edna again I'll throw you straight out of the window," I threatened.

"All right. Inefficiency Ines," he said with a wide grin. "I am at your Majesty's service. I shall speak only when I am spoken to, like all good children. Let the revision proceed."

At the Dance

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

It is my understanding that the first and last dance are to be with the lady escorted to the dance.

I was recently at a dance and my escort had previously asked a lady for the next dance when it was announced that that particular dance would be the last one. I therefore politely advised him that as it was the last dance it was our dance and should, therefore, be canceled with the other lady, which she agreed to, and which he did.

Was I right in making such a request?

J. L.

Although your understanding about the assignment of dances is correct, still, under the circumstances, it seems to me that it would have been more gracious if you had let things take the course that would have seemed more natural since there was an indefiniteness about the dance. To you it would have been a disappointment, of course, but to the other young lady, it must have been a rather embarrassing procedure. Naturally there was nothing for her to do but to "agree to" your suggestion.

Cancer Not Hereditary, Curable in Its Early Stages

Cancer is regarded as one of the greatest problems of the human race. It was so classified at a conference recently held by the American College of Surgeons. At this meeting notable surgeons of this country and other lands discussed this problem.

Dr. Copeland

Tremendous advances have been made in the recognition and treatment of this disease, but unfortunately there has been no new development in the prevention of cancer. The disease is more easily recognized than it was in former years. This is important, for when unrecognized little help can be given.

Contrary to a common belief, in many cases cancer can be cured. This is only true when it is discovered in its early stages and the treatment is given immediately.

The figures of the total number of cases of cancer are misleading. Though the number has increased each year this does not mean necessarily that cancer is on the increase. It merely means that the disease is more readily recognized.

The general opinion of scientists is that cancer begins as purely a local disease, confined to one part of the body. As a result of some disturbance, a tumor develops. Once it begins to grow it cannot stop by itself, but must be removed or destroyed.

This growth may occur anywhere in the body. It may be on the outside or the inside of the body. At the outset it is small, but gradually it gets larger, taking nourishment away from the body. This explains in part the loss of weight that the victims experience.

When the growth is on the surface of the body it is usually discovered in an early stage. When the growth is confined within the body the problem is different. That form is usually neglected. Any growth that can be seen is quickly brought to the physician for attention. Internal tumors may not show themselves until they begin to disturb the health.

When the growth is overlooked or neglected the cancer finds its way to other parts of the body. It may give rise to new growths. When this occurs it is serious. This condition is spoken of medically as "metastasis."

Cancer is most common after the age of 35. It occurs most frequently in the stomach, the breast and skin. It may be found in any other part of the body.

For many years it was believed that cancer was hereditary. There is a certain susceptibility towards cancer found in some families. This does not mean that the disease is actually hereditary.

The importance of early recognition and immediate treatment cannot be over-emphasized.

The early recognition of this disease depends upon the individual as well as the physician. If you have any complaint, no matter how small, do not consider it unimportant. Consult with your physician.

If there is any doubt in his mind concerning the cause of your discomfort he will subject you to the necessary X-ray pictures and other tests. These will prove or disprove the presence of cancer. But, I beg of you, don't neglect it.

To make Children

EAT

Don't force children to eat! The girl or boy who has no appetite has stasis—which means the child is sluggish. But cathartics have caused more constipation than they ever cured! The "California treatment" is best—just pure fig syrup. Try this for a few days then see how eagerly your youngster will eat.

How to Conquer Sluggishness

Stimulate the colon and that child with a finicky appetite will devour everything set before him. Here's the simple treatment that does more for babies or older children than all the diets, laxatives, or tonics.

Nature has provided the only "medicine" you'll need to stir a child's colon muscles into proper action. California fig syrup. Pure, delicious, harmless. It acts on the lower colon—where the trouble is. It has no ill effects on the intestines.

Begin tonight, with this marvelous "California treatment." Any druggist has California fig syrup, all bottled, with directions. Use enough the first time to cleanse the clogged colon of every bit of poison and hard waste. Then just a little, twice a week until the child's appetite, color, weight and spirits tell you the stasis is gone. Whenever a cold or other upset clogs the system again, use this natural vegetable laxative instead of drastic drugs.

WARNING

There are dealers who practice substitution, for sure to protect your child by insisting for the name CALIFORNIA on the bottle.

Knock That Cold In A Jiffy

Relief Now Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go, the cold breaks up; poisons leave you system. Almost before you know it you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

How Do Dancers Manage?

The professional engagements of a dancer make no allowance for the trying time of a woman's monthly sickness. Yet her period must not interfere with her easy, effortless performance. Such women do not "fight" periodic pain, but avoid it. They use Midol, and do not suffer even a twinge of menstrual pain. Why don't you meet these monthly emergencies with this remarkable modern discovery?

Midol takes pain off the calendar. Monthly martyrdom is foolish. For Midol is as harmless as the aspirin tablet you take for your headache! All drug stores; just ask for Midol.

Safe! when used full strength—yet kills germs even when diluted!

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as any other leading mouth wash. Hence it goes 3 times as far. That's economy for you! Why waste money on antiseptics that must be used full strength to be effective?

YOU don't need to dilute Pepsodent Antiseptic unless you like—it's just a question of saving money. Pepsodent Antiseptic is absolutely safe to use full strength. But by adding water it goes three times as far—gives you three times more for your money—actually saves you $2 for every dollar's worth you buy. After all, there are only two leading kinds of mouth washes—the one that must be used full strength to be effective—and the other—Pepsodent Antiseptic—that can be diluted with two parts of water and still kill germs in less than 10 seconds. Whether you're fighting colds or unpleasant breath it pays to know that Pepsodent Antiseptic is three times more powerful than other leading mouth antiseptics. It pays in money—pays in health—and pays in peace of mind. Pepsodent Antiseptic is your assurance that you're killing germs—is your assurance of a pure sweet breath one or two hours longer. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic—and be safe as well as thrifty.

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds proves its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Pepsodent Antiseptic is over 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water.

Gray Hair

Best Remedy is Made At Home

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

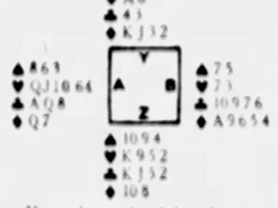
Contract Bridge

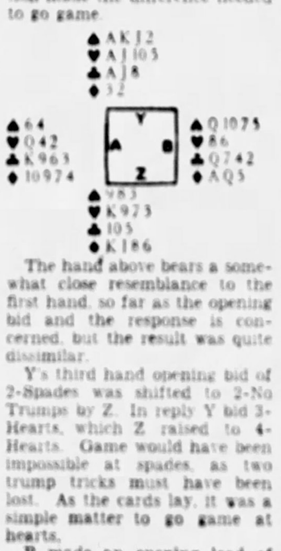
By E. V. SHEPARD

Minimum Responses to Opening Two Bids

Anything better than a bare two probable tricks ordinarily is sufficient for a voluntary response to partner's semi-forcing opening bid of two. Get over fearing that you will cause partner to go down if you make a minimum response. Going down part of the time is less serious than losing games through failures to respond. The two hands given show responses upon nearly equally weak holdings. The first declaring hand is the stronger, but in both instances intelligent contracting, with some good luck in the second instance, yields games.



Y made a third hand opening bid of 2-Spades, on the hand above. Z had a very skimpy assist upon three probable tricks, including his possible chance to trump a third round of diamonds. But he answered with 2-No Trumps. When Y rabid spades, going 3-Spades, Z bid 4-Spades. They made just four-odd, losing two club tricks and one diamond trick; Z trumped two diamond leads before spades were touched. Only two-odd could have been made at no-trumps (five spades, two hearts and one diamond trick) against reasonable defense. The two ruffs by dummy at the spade declaration made the difference needed to go game.



The hand above bears a somewhat close resemblance to the first hand, so far as the opening bid and the response is concerned, but the result was quite dissimilar.

Y's third hand opening bid of 2-Spades was shifted to 2-No Trumps by Z. In reply Y bid 3-Hearts, which Z raised to 4-Hearts. Game would have been impossible at spades, as two trump tricks must have been lost. As the cards lay, it was a simple matter to go game at hearts.

B made an opening lead of his fourth best club, killing A's K. When Y won the trick he gave B a club trick, thereby establishing a good club in his own hand, upon which he later on discarded one of dummy's spades, permitting Z to trump two spades, and giving his side four-odd.

STOREKEEPER, WIFE BOUND BY 2 MASKED BANDITS

GIRL DRAGGED FROM AUTO BY ROBBERS

Eight in 'Strip' Herded Into Room, Cash Register Looted; Suspect Caught

Robbers, working singly, in pairs and in gangs, struck over a wide area of the Pittsburgh district early today in a renewed outburst of robberies and holdups. Chief among these were:

1—Brighton road storekeepers, forced into rear room and tied to chair with clothesline, as bandanna masked bandits escape with diamond rings valued at $2,500.

2—Prowler routed from Brighton road home, stopped by pistol shots after mile chase through wooded section.

3—Monongahela Valley terrorists rob North Boroughs couple in Wilkinsburg of more than $400 in money and jewelry.

4—Bandits herd four men and women into rear room while they loot Strip store of $800.

5—Shetland avenue doctor robbed of $110 by lone robber as he enters home.

Two young men, masked with blue bandanna handkerchiefs, forced Samuel and Mollie Singer into the rear of their store at 1511 Brighton road early today, blindfolded them, tied them to chairs with clothes lines and then leisurely ransacked the place.

Their loot, including three small diamond rings, was estimated at $2,500.

After ransacking the back room and cash register, one of the bandits, releasing the ties which bound Samuel, forced him at the point of a revolver to open the safe.

Suspect Captured After Mile Chase

A mile-long chase through a wooded section of the North Side, during which several shots were fired, early today resulted in the arrest of Frank Robusto, 28, shortly after he is alleged to have attempted to break into the home of Joseph Funfare, 4024 Brighton road.

Valley Bandits Rob Pair in Wilkinsburg

Search for five armed, neatly dressed youths suspected of more than a score of robberies throughout the Monongahela Valley within the last three weeks, assumed renewed vigor today after the holdup and robbery of Harold S. Wheeler, 32, of 4 Clarion avenue, Bellevue, and a companion, Dorothy Nasky, 20, of 320 Carlisle avenue, West View, of money and jewelry valued at more than $400 in Penn avenue, near Midland street, Wilkinsburg, early today.

Two of the robbers hauled Miss Nasky from the car and pulled a ring valued at $150 from her finger. From Wheeler, the others took a pocketbook containing $16, his watch, his automobile ownership card and a pawn ticket for a $150 diamond stickpin.

4 Women, Men Herded Into Room, Robbed

Penn avenue police continued their search today for two of four bandits who early last night herded eight persons, including four women, into a rear room of the Star market, at 101 Twenty-fourth street, and escaped with $800.

Left by the bandits to escape on foot, John Scrilla, 24, of 309 Boggston avenue, was captured by police and confessed, they said, identifying the other members of the alleged gang. His brother-in-law, Edward Dugan, 24, of 5106 Baum boulevard, was arrested a short time later.

The bandits obtained $200 from the cash register, $20 from N. Recht, manager; $180 from S. Deakter, vice president; $341 from H. Deakter, treasurer, and $75 from I. Porter, secretary. The four young women, Jeannette Neistein, Jean Makinzi, Katherine Moore and Rebecca Hoffman, were not molested.

Dr. Louis G. Ignetzi, of 109 Shetland avenue, reported to city detectives that he had been robbed of $110 by an armed man last night as he was about to enter his home. The bandit fled on foot.

Two armed men held up William Hart, attendant at the Shell gas service station, Center avenue and Shakespeare street, today, and obtained $38 from the cash register, he reported to police.

Edward Hagerling, of 121 Sherman street, Mt. Oliver, a street car motorman, on his way to work, was held up by two Negroes and robbed of $58.50 near his home early today.

Catherine Pritchard, 4, and her cousin, Robert Goodman, 3, are playing around their home at 3949 Oakdale avenue, North Side, today, without a thought of their hike yesterday, which worried their parents and North Side police.

Seven hours after they disappeared from their home they were found crying on Perry Highway in West View by B. P. Miller, of 82 Martsolf avenue, who took them to his home and notified police. An hour later they were back home, sleeping.

The children disappeared at 2 p. m. yesterday and when Miller alighted from a car at 9 p. m. he found them. They were about five miles from home.

Bishop Mann Indorses Public Relief

RULING IN BUS CASE HELD UP

HARRISBURG, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—The Public Service Commission reserved decision today after hearing final arguments on the bus service applications of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company and Rudolph Hanover, asking similar privileges.

Hanover's proposed bus route would run between the borough of McKees Rocks and Pittsburgh, being an extension of an existing route between Forest Grove and the plants of the Carnegie Steel Company and the Pressed Steel Car Company.

Attorney M. Leon Tolochko, arguing for Hanover, maintained his client would not be in competition with the Pittsburgh Railways Company. He agreed that Hanover's buses would not furnish local service between the Pittsburgh terminus and Superior avenue.

P. A. Pfleger represented the Pittsburgh Coach Company and maintained that that firm had the right to the certificate.

Belmar Drug Store Looted of Narcotics

Thieves entered the Stright Pharmacy, 920 North Homewood avenue, last night and took $19 in cash and narcotics valued at $15, police were notified.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

LONDON, Jan. 26.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

President signed another loan bill. This one only for $125,000,000 for land banks. Then last week $2,000,000,000. You can tell this is an election year from the way these appropriation bills are passing. It will take the taxpayers 50 years to pay for the votes in this election. Our only solution of relief seems to be to fix it so people who are in a hole through borrowing can borrow some more. Borrowing, that's what is the matter with the world today. If no individual or country could borrow a dime for five years that would be the greatest five-year-plan ever invented.

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL.

P. S. But what about Morgan & Co.? That would be discriminating against them, wouldn't it? Well, we won't do it then. Just let it go.

NEW BUS LINE SUPPORTED AT HEARING

Mt. Lebanon and West End Extension Upheld by 200 At Hearing Before P. S. C.

More than 200 residents of Mt. Lebanon, Carnegie, Crafton, Ingram and other interested communities attended a public Service Commission hearing today on the petition of the Oriole Motor Coach Lines, Inc., asking to extend its service in Mt. Lebanon and the West End.

William Supan, president of the company, testified that the picking up of passengers would not conflict with Pittsburgh Motor Coach routes.

Representatives of the latter company were at the hearing to protest the extension grant.

William E. McCormack, president of the Ingram Board of Trade, told Examiner William E. Best that the West End commmunities favored the granting of additional service.

Attorney William Swearingen, borough solicitor; Alice Geerlings, secretary of the Pittsburgh Home for Babies; Mrs. W. H. Biggs, president of the Women's Club, and Mrs. C. C. Dittmar, wife of the burgess, all from Ingram, testified of the need for the new service.

It is the plan of the Oriole company to run buses from Ferry street and Liberty avenue through the West End, to Obey avenue, to Middletown road, to Ingram and on to the Thornburg Borough line. It would offer new service to persons in the Middletown road section of Pittsburgh who now face long walks to trolley lines.

The company proposes to charge 20 cents from downtown to end of any line. Inter-borough rides would be 5 cents. Half hour service would be offered during the rush hours. Attorney Thomas Murray represents the Oriole company.

MISS GRACE JUDGE AS A MAKE-BELIEVE PATIENT IN THE LIFE-SAVING OXYGEN ROOM

Medical science's latest, the oxygen chamber, similar to that which aviators tried to rush across the country last week to save a pneumonia victim's life in Tucson, Ariz. The apparatus you see pumps air with high oxygen content into the chamber so that the lung-weakened patient breathes easier. This one was set up at William Penn to demonstrate to surgeons.

FIRE BLAMED ON INCENDIARY

Thomas L. Pfarr, county fire marshal, today said his investigation of the fire which yesterday damaged six buildings in Wilmerding, five the property of the Volpe brothers, has disclosed that although the fire was of incendiary origin it was not started by a bomb.

The fire was started, he said, by enemies of the Volpes, Republican leaders of the borough, who were deposed from control at the last election.

Patrolman Plumer Churchfield yesterday said his attention was attracted to the fire by an explosion and that, as he reached the scene, he saw the front of one of the stores collapse under force of the blast.

Pfarr said he had questioned James, Edward and George Volpe as well as the proprietors of the stores and none of them was implicated in any manner.

2 Suspects Quizzed As Makers of Bombs

Two men arrested, police said, with bomb-making material in their possession, were held today by Clairton police while officials investigated tri-state district bombings.

The men, Dominick La Bella, 27, of 901 Bellevue street, and August Shiava, 29, of Stewart street, McKeesport, were held for court following a hearing before Alderman C. L. Patterson, of Clairton, last night.

POLICE RADIO COSTS $15,000

Captures of criminals by police radio will cost the city taxpayers $15,000 in 1932, Public Safety Director James M. Clark informed Council today when he asked an appropriation to defray the bill.

The appropriation will provide for maintenance of the police radio broadcasting station WPDU, at Mt. Washington Police Station, and for repairs and replacements to receiving sets in radio cruiser cars. Clark pointed out that efficiency of the department has increased many times with the advent of radio apparatus.

Suspension of relief work among Western Pennsylvania miners, because of lack of funds, was revealed today by Sarah Limbach, secretary of the Miners Relief Fund of the Socialist party in an appeal to United States Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis urging passage of the LaFollette-Costigan bill for direct Federal unemployment relief.

Kept from Church, Wife Says; Divorced

Her husband, Ralph E. Floyd, advertising salesman of Howe street, prevented her from teaching Sunday school and asserted a wife's place was at home, Mary Irene Floyd, 21, of 724 North Negley avenue, told Judge Frank P. Patterson in Common Pleas Court. She was granted a divorce.

Floyd struck her with his fist and finally left her six months after their elopement to Weirton W. Va., April 24, last, Mrs. Floyd testified.

DIOCESE ASKED TO SUPPORT EFFORTS

Appeal Marks Opening Of 67th Convention Held At Trinity Cathedral

An appeal to the clergy and laity of the Protestant Episcopal Church to use their influence to secure such grants of public money as seems necessary to help the needy and unemployed because voluntary contributions apparently are not sufficient, was made by the Rt. Rev. Alexander Mann, Bishop of the Pittsburgh Episcopal Diocese, in Trinity Cathedral today.

The appeal was included in the annual address of the Bishop, which opened the sixty-seventh annual convention of the diocese. The convention lasts two days.

Bishop Mann said:

"The Christian citizen's attitude toward the various schemes of relief that are proposed must be determined, not by the politicians' concern for votes nor by the selfish fear of increased taxes, but by those unforgettable words of Jesus Christ—'I was hungry and ye gave me meat, I was naked and ye clothed me'."

The meeting today marked the beginning of the tenth year for Bishop Mann as head of the church here.

The afternoon meeting included reports of all the committees. Tonight there is to be a missionary service in the cathedral and an address by the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, Bishop of Massachusetts, who was once a curate under Bishop Mann.

'Corny' Puzzled About Theft of His Fur Coats

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Someboody in this town burgled two overcoats and a police dog from Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Looks like somebody is due to get chased with an empty gun.

Corny can't understand it. He was wearing both coats at the time. And the police dog was in his lap.

He could have summoned help by barking. But he didn't want to wake up the dog.

Mr. Vanderbilt is very indignant about the whole affair. Having been in Nevada so long he has lost his metropolitan viewpoint.

Corny has been a resident of Reno, where men are divorce lawyers and many a desperate duel has been fought with cigar lighters.

We consider him fortunate to get out of Washington with the retail loss of two overcoats and a police dog.

If the dog's fur is in good shape he's gone forever. He's going to be the third overcoat.

Wrecking Crew Ends Story Of Guyasuta Dog Track

The final chapter in the history of the dog track of the Guyasuta Kennel Club in the Freeport road, near Aspinwall, is being written by the Omslaer Wrecking Company, which recently purchased all the lumber in the track and grandstand for $650 and is now carting it away.

The original investment of the promoters of the Guyasuta Kennel Club is estimated at $75,000. The O'Hara Land and Development Company, which owns the land, had obtained an order of court directing John Douglas, Jr., receiver for the club, to remove the buildings.

National Union Threatens Strike Over Mine Pay Cut

Mass meetings in Coverdale, Horning, Mollenauer and Castle Shannon, where the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation operates mines, will be held throughout the week by the National Miners' Union for a strike against the 10 per cent wage cut proposed by the corporation effective February 1.

The statement of P. T. Fagan, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that the miners of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation voted by "an overwhelming majority" to accept the reduction was declared by James Morris, provisional rank and file committee secretary of the National union, to be "an outright lie."

He declared Fagan and an official of the coal firm made two previous attempts to cut the miners' wages, but through the National union, the attempts were defeated.

Morris, Frank Borich, secretary of the union, and other district leaders spoke at the conference in Granish Hall, Coverdale, last night. Abolition of the "check-off," a system by which the coal corporation assesses each miner $1.50 a month which goes to the United Mine Workers organization, will be demanded, Borich said.

The corporation was to be notified today that the National union will not accept the wage reduction and will call a strike if it is enforced.

BANDIT KILLER PLEADS GUILTY

Leniency was recommended by the state for John E. Keenan, 21, of Youngstown, who pleaded guilty today to murder for the death of his accomplice, Austin Cullinan, 26, of Youngstown, during the attempted holdup of Morris Wolfe's Center avenue shoe store Christmas night.

Keenan told the court a bullet from his gun, discharged accidently when he struck Wolfe, entered Cullinan's head. He admitted participation in the holdup. Assistant District Attorney Roy C. Clunk told the court the killing was accidental.

Judge James H. Gray announced he would fix the degree later.

Kane Man Urges Hoover to Order Trade Pickup

KANE, Pa., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—A plan to bring back prosperity by starting all industries at a certain date on the scale on which they operated in 1929 was mailed to President Hoover today by Claude C. Overholt, economist and former instructor in Stuyvesant High School, New York City.

Overholt suggested that President Hoover call a conference of industrial and labor leaders and arrange to have them set the date for the renewing of industrial activity. He would have the employes returned in the same numbers and at the same wages as they worked in 1929.

Overholt's theory is that the employes would spend the money and it would return to the manufacturers and they in turn be able to continue operation on the 1929 scale.

SALVADOR REDS KILL HUNDREDS

COLON, P. C. Z., Jan. 26.—(INS.)—Hundreds have been slain, possibly thousands, in the Communist revolt sweeping the little republic of El Salvador, according to word received here today through strict censorship lines.

More than 2,000 were killed in one battle outside San Salvador, the capital, according to one unconfirmed report from Guatemala City.

Reports from varied sources, including the word of travelers just arrived from the strife-torn republic, agree that the number of deaths is well above 50. Due to the inaccessibility of the interior where fighting was heaviest, and to the strict government censorship on all but business messages, the higher estimates were readily agreed possible.

10 RAIL UNIONS DECIDE STAND

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—A decision has been reached by 10 of the 21 railroad labor unions on the railroads' request for a voluntary 10 per cent wage reduction.

Whether the decisions were favorable or adverse will not be revealed until the remaining 11 unions have acted and the executives of all 21 meet again with the nine railroad presidents with whom they are negotiating.

David B. Robertson, spokesman for the railroad labor groups, said the labor executives, who conferred last night, reported that representatives of their unions had expressed considerable displeasure with the disposition made by the rail presidents of the union's labor stabilization program.

The union representatives were to meet separately again today, following which another general conference of their executives will be held in the afternoon to discuss progress made.

AGREE ON TRIAL OF CAR CHANGE

A two weeks' trial of curtailed street car service in West View before pressing their complaint further was decided on at a meeting of the West View Board of Trade last night at which C. V. Shoup, official of the Allied Boards of Trade, was elected president.

The action was taken after Joseph Donley of the Pittsburgh Railways Company said initiation of a transfer point to serve upper West View would mean a saving annually of $19,000 to the company.

Other officers elected were: Edward C. Werner and C. H. Walter, vice presidents; H. J. Wagner, treasurer, and Howard Wilt, secretary. John Bauer, Harry L. Kreiling, A. E. Jones, Dr. C. W. Cummings and William M. Dickson were elected directors.

AUTO DEALERS, SALESMEN SEE GOOD YEAR

Chevrolet, Pontiac, Chrysler Groups Meet Here; Show Continues Big Attraction

Work and lots of it was the theme of dealer-salesman meetings held by three automobile concerns yesterday as part of their Automobile Show week activities in Pittsburgh. Sessions were conducted by Chevrolet in Syria Mosque, Pontiac in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association and Chrysler in Schenley Hotel.

W. E. Holler, former manager of the Pittsburgh zone for Chevrolet, now assistant general sales manager, told his listeners that work, a plan and common sense would assure them a profitable year in 1932.

Members of the Pittsburgh zone 100-car club were honor guests at the noon luncheon which was attended by more than 1,000 dealers and salesmen.

Speakers at the Pontiac meeting included C. A. Rehtmyer, R. K. White, eastern sales manager, and W. T. Minor, zone manager.

White reported that Pontiac sales at the New York Automobile Show were four times that of last year's show.

J. W. Frazer, general sales manager of Chrysler Motor Car Company, was the principal speaker at the meeting of Chrysler dealers and salesmen of the Pittsburgh zone. He said that 1,000,000 cars were junked during 1931, opening up a large potential car market.

Harry G. Samson, president of the Samson Motor Car Company, was toastmaster.

The committee in charge of the Automobile Show will continue its policy of giving away a refrigerator, radio or automobile accessory to some visitor at the show every afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. An automobile will be given away every night at 10 o'clock.

Advertising Men Told of Profits

Of 504 companies whose records were studied, 303 returned a net profit in 1931 and 71 earned a greater profit than in 1930, Leonard Dreyfuss, president of the United Advertising Corporation, New York, told the Pittsburgh Advertising Club today.

The entire beauty parlor industry showed 1931 profits far ahead of 1930 and will employ 75 per cent more labor, reported Dreyfuss, who suggested that advertising can be made one of the strongest forces for business recuperation, which, he said, has already set in.

Judge Gives Up As Matrimonial Peace-Maker

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Magistrate Harry H. Porter has given up the idea that he can make married folks happy by talking them out of their troubles, real or fancied.

He announced after a six months' trial that he has abandoned his "matrimonial clinic" and that hereafter husbands and wives who quarrel would be treated as they are in other courts. He said:

"I found that I couldn't make them happy again by talking to them—or even having Dr. David L. Hedberg, the police psychiatrist, talk to them. He'd tell them how to settle their difficulties and give them advice on how to be happy.

"We would send them home apparently on friendly terms, but back they would come—arguing over the advice we had just given them."

SCAN CAPONE'S JAIL DEALS

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—The activities of Al Capone are under investigation again.

A report that his lieutenants are visiting him in the "convalescent ward" of the county jail regularly, disguised as "Mr. Smith" or "Mr. Jones," enabling him to keep in contact with his henchmen, prompted the inquiry.

Capone is being held pending his appeal from his conviction and sentence to 11 years as an income tax law violator.

Since he was given into the custody of Warden Moneypenny October 24, only a limited number of passes have been issued for persons to visit him, but it was reported yesterday that members of his gang were circumventing the pass rule by posing as the "guests" of the other prisoners.

The crowded condition of the jail was given as the reason other prisoners are kept in the same ward with Capone.

United States Marshal H. C. W. Laubenheimer said he would put a stop to the alleged practice "if I have to move him."

HOMESTEAD RICH BASKETBALL FIELD

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA can present an all-time mythical basketball team of home talent comparable to the best offered in evidence anywhere. Homestead alone has made a remarkable record in that respect. One of the most fertile fields in America in the production and development of basketball timber, the hustling steel town has been turning out floor stars for 30 years, and has contributed the majority of the players making up the district's best all-time quintet.

Charley Hyatt

Omitting the greatest of late years, Charley Hyatt, only because he did not get a chance to show his full possibilities in the big pro loops, how would this array of Western Pennsylvania talent strike you? Roy Steele and Billy Kummer, forwards; Yit Dolan, center; Soups Campbell and Dutch Wohlfarth, guards, with Allie and Jympsy Brown tossed in as substitutes. Kummer hailed from Butler and all the rest were Homestead products. Every one of these players made the grade in the fastest floor leagues in the country.

KUMMER MADE HIS reputation as a big-time court star with Butler and Greensburg in the old Central League and then went East to join Jasper in the Eastern League which team won the professional championship. He was a great floor man, a wonder from the foul line and a super-player under the hoop.

Steele played with the best teams in the land for almost a score of years and ranked with the greatest, being classed with Johnny Beckman and players of like caliber. Dolan was recognized as one of the best centers ever to play in the various eastern pro leagues, and for a dozen seasons held his own against opposing tap-off men of the highest class.

WOHLFARTH, AFTER MAKING a great start with Homestead in the Central loop, went East with Kummer and for a long stretch was a sensation in that region. Campbell, probably the greatest player from these parts, invaded the East about 1912 and until two years ago, when an injury finished him as manager and coach of the Chicago Americans, continued to shine on the best teams in the pro ranks.

Campbell in his prime was called the outstanding shot in basketball and many rated him second only to Nat Holman. Jympsy Brown was of the flashy roving type, able to score from all angles, while Allie was an all-around player, more on the defensive order but a whale under the rings.

TAKE OUT KUMMER and Wohlfarth and add Dave Kerr, and you'll have a team that won the distinction of defeating every big five of its time. Even the famous New York Celtics of eight to 10 years ago took several trimmings from that outfit. And those are not all of the great players this neighborhood produced long before the days of Hyatt. There were others who could have shone in the fastest company if they had elected to step out, such as George Ramsay, Phil Gentille, Zip Brickley, Buckets Sundomire, Chick Davies, Bill Campbell, Moon Klinzing, Mox Marks and a few more. Ramsay did have an opportunity to go to Cleveland, and Klinzing also spent a few months with the Rosies. When they're handing out any honors for home-grown basketball stuff no part of the map is entitled to a larger share than Homestead and the remainder of the West Penn district.

Randy Moore

BEING CONVERTED FROM a third baseman into an outfielder was one thing but Randy Moore found it was quite a different proposition to change himself again from an outfielder into a catcher. He has decided to leave the backstopping work to somebody else.

Aiming to add catching to his repertoire for 1932, the Braves' infielder-outfielder took a complete receiver's outfit to his home in Texas to practice during the off-season, but according to Manager Bill McKechnie frequent workouts have not improved Randy sufficiently to convince him he has a future as a mankman, and he has just about given up the idea.

ANOTHER BIG LEAGUE outfielder may be more successful in a similar undertaking. Smead Jolley, of the White Sox, is reported to be making greater progress at making himself over into a catcher for next season.

Jolley was told that he would not do as an outfielder but that his hitting was so valuable he'd be a regular if he could show enough defensive class in any other position. Smead has been practicing hard at Oakland, Cal., in the hope of becoming a backstop, and reports he is much encouraged by the results he is getting. What Manager Fonseca will think of those results when he looks them over in the spring is another question.

FROM THE HEADQUARTERS of the Brooklyn club comes confirmation that the new nickname of the Flatbush team is finally and officially the Dodgers. Realizing that Robins would no longer fit, following the departure of Wilbert Robinson, from whose name that title was derived, the owners notified the Brooklyn Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association that they would officially adopt any new nickname the chapter might select. The scribes picked Dodgers, and Dodgers it will be. President Frank York and Treasurer Steve McKeever announce that the nickname will be inscribed across the breast of each Brooklyn uniform this year in large letters. The only other name seriously considered by the writers was Kings. Somebody who evidently had watched the Brooklyn players running bases suggested Horses, possibly because horses can sleep standing up.

IN MOVING UP their basketball game and boxing meet from Saturday night to Friday night in order to avoid a conflict with the Carnegie-Duquesne floor tilt in the Tartan gym, Pitt and West Virginia have taken a sensible step. Schedule makers should get together annually in arranging their slates and eliminate such conflicts as far as possible, just as they do in football.

Another of the local season's most stirring numbers is promised when the Dukes clash with the Skibos. Carnegie's defeat at Geneva's hands last night, in connection with the loss to the Panthers, whom the Dukes in turn overthrew, is likely to send the Bluffites into Saturday's game as the favorites.

ONE OF THE features of the National League hockey season has been the great improvement in the playing of Harold Cotton, former Pittsburgh icer. His fine work has had much to do with the Toronto club's showing in the race.

Cotton's brilliant play presents such a marked contrast to his performances here and in Philadelphia that hockey fans have wondered at the cause. One old player advances the explanation that it's due to the fact that Cotton is finally getting a chance to play in his own home town.

Harold Cotton

"IT'S JUST BECAUSE he's back home that Cotton is going so well," he said. "It always pops up a player to get back in his own town and play for the home folks, particularly when he gets on a good club, as is the case with Cotton. The Toronto fans were becoming a bit sore at seeing so many of the home town boys moving away and scoring goals against the Maple Leafs. For years Toronto was turning out the players and other cities were winning honors with them. The Montreal Maroons won a while back with Nels Stewart, a Toronto boy, playing the star part for them. Hooley Smith is a Toronto product. So is Dunc Munro, and you can add Big Cowcher, Ray Worters, John Ross Roach and plenty of others. If these boys had stayed at home and played for the old Queen City, Toronto wouldn't have been kept waiting so long for a Stanley Cup."

FIELD CLUB LIKELY SCENE OF TITLE PLAY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Again it appears we are going to have another national championship in our midst. The annual match play championship of the Professional Golfers' Association of America won last year at Providence, R. I., by Tom Creavy, and featured by the victory of our own Pete O'Hara, of Westmoreland, over the great Walter Hagen, who has held the crown more than any other man, may be played at the Pittsburgh Field Club this year.

The Pittsburgh Field Club is very much in favor of staging the tournament, providing it can see its way through the financial difficulty—that of guaranteeing $10,000 or $12,000 in expenses to the visiting pros—and certainly the P. G. A. is willing to go halfway in its consideration of the matter, as witness the statement of Albert R. Gates, business administrator for the group, made last night in Chicago.

"Pittsburgh wants the tournament and is very much in the running."

GATES TO COME HERE

Gates will confer with Chamber of Commerce and Pittsburgh Field Club officials here this week. John W. Carr, affable secretary-treasurer of the Pittsburgh Field Club, has indicated that the Aspinwall club is seriously interested in underwriting the tourney, which is credited with being originally agitated by Professional Dave McKay of the Field Club secretary for the Tri-state P. G. A. chapter.

Carr, no doubt, will join with members of the club's board of directors in conferring with Gates and the C. of C. representatives. Paul R. Byrnes, the Chamber's convention manager, likely will be "in" on the session.

H. E. McCamey, chairman of the golf committee at the Field Club, has set his committee to working out the cost of sponsoring the national championship. A special meeting may be called in the near future in the event the committee finds the cost of underwriting the event within reason; the next regular confab of the club's governing fathers is not scheduled until February 16.

ANNOUNCEMENT SOON

In the event the Pittsburgh Field Club declines, which is most remote, the Oakmont Country Club, scene of unforgetable championships here, may be interested. It has been rumored that Oakmont would like to hold a national championship again, and the national open has been reported as the tournament of its seeking.

Last year, aside from O'Hara's masterpiece against Hagen, E. Vincent Eldred, of Highland, played in the event over his "home-town" links, and Ted Luther, of Valley Heights, erstwhile Corry instructor, also competed. George Underwood, of Alcoma, tied for one of the places, but withdrew to eliminate a playoff.

It is expected a definite announcement will be forthcoming in the near future.

COURSE COMMENDED

Yesterday a delegation of greenkeepers from Minneapolis and St. Paul stopped off at the Pittsburgh Field Club as guests of Greenkeeper Jack McNamara. They were en route home from the national convention of greenkeepers, held last week in New York.

Secretary Carr escorted them over the course, and the general consensus of opinion was that the Pittsburgh Field Club's layout was one of the most picturesque they ever had visited.

The group also inspected Oakmont, Allegheny and several other courses before continuing their journey.

PITT BATTLES W. VA. FRIDAY

The West Virginia University-Pitt basketball and boxing events, scheduled for Pittsburgh Saturday, have been shifted to Friday of this week.

The change was made in order to avoid conflict with the Duke-Carnegie Tech game on Saturday. Three Mountaineer teams, varsity and freshman basketball and varsity boxing will leave Morgantown early Friday to permit the boxers to weigh in at the Pitt Stadium and then rest for the bouts.

The Dukes begin work this afternoon for their eighth game of the season against Tech Saturday. Coach Chick Davies figures it to be the most important game of his career, and is certain to have the Bluffites at their best for the Skibos.

Ice hockey may be added to the program of sports at Carnegie Tech. Tom Coulter, track captain, is agitating the organization of a team.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE MAN WHO DROVE A LOCOMOTIVE MORE THAN 4,000,000 MILES—When the Lackawanna Limited pulled into Hoboken Terminal at 7:12 in the evening of December 31, 1931, John Draney climbed down from his engine cab to be retired after 42 years of railroad service as an engineer. Fifty-nine years ago, Draney went to work on the railroad as a tool carrier and worked at other jobs for 17 years before he was made an engineer. During his 1,000,000 miles at the throttle, Draney never was involved in an accident, and he was awarded his company's medal for safety and skill in train operation. THE STATE OF LOUISIANA IS DIVIDED INTO PARISHES—The political division of Louisiana into parishes, instead of counties, is traceable to Louisiana's former allegiance to France. Under French rule, the state was divided into "parisosses," which denomination was retained in an English translation when Louisiana became part of the United States.

BIG SPENDER OF BASEBALL SUCCUMBS

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Baseball lost not only one of its greatest leaders, but one of its greatest spenders in the death of William Wrigley, Jr., at Phoenix, Ariz., today.

Taking up the national pastime as a hobby, Wrigley spent millions to give Chicago a pennant-winning team and always insisted he never realized one cent from his interests in the club, one of the best money-earners in all baseball history.

"I bought the Cubs not only because I love baseball, but because I once was joshed about a large city like Chicago having such poor ball clubs," he once said in telling of his interest in the game. "When I was on the road selling soap, years ago, the other salesmen used to kid me about Chicago's weak clubs and I resolved to buy the Cubs.

SPENDS $6,000,000

"Altogether, I think I have spent $6,000,000 or more in building up my team, but I never have taken a nickel of the profits. It is purely a hobby for me, and, as long as I can afford such an expensive hobby and give the fans a thrill, why I'm happy. I'd rather watch a good ball game than to attend a stockholders' meeting and listen to bumper reports, and I guess I play hookey regularly to go out to Wrigley Field."

Wrigley's death, which came as a distinct shock to baseball and to Chicago's civic leaders, who regarded him as one of the staunchest pillars in this city's civic life, removed from baseball Chicago's second major league club owner in three months. On October 26, 1931, Charles A. Comiskey, baseball's "Old Roman," owner of the White Sox, died at his country home in Eagle River, Wis.

PRAISED BY COMISKEY

Lou Comiskey, son of the "Old Roman" and heir of the White Sox club, was the first to offer condolences to the bereaved Wrigley family.

"The passing of William Wrigley was a distinct shock to me. My father and I always admired him as a sportsman and as a man. Baseball has lost one of its outstanding and staunchest supporters. Chicago has lost its foremost citizen," he said.

Ban Johnson, former head of the American League, and Edward S. Barnard, his successor, both died in March of last year.

NEWS KEPT FROM DREYFUSS

Although he has been a close friend of William Wrigley, Jr., for many years, Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club, will not learn of the death of his brother magnate for some time. Dreyfuss still is in a weak condition in Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York City, where he underwent a serious operation several weeks ago. Encouraging reports are received on the Pittsburgher's condition, but his family fears that a knowledge of Wrigley's death might upset him.

William E. Benswanger, treasurer of the Pirates, and son-in-law of Dreyfuss, said this morning that the news of Wrigley's death would be kept from the ailing Pirate owner. Benswanger said:

"Mr. Dreyfuss was extremely fond of the owner of the Cubs. Their personal and business dealings had been very pleasant. I know that Mr. Dreyfuss has lost a good friend and that the National League loses a very valuable club owner."

HORNSBY LAUDS WRIGLEY

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—"I have lost the best boss I ever had."

That is what Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs said when he was informed of the death today of William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago National League club. Hornsby was reached at his country home at Anglum, Mo., just outside of St. Louis.

"I am terribly shocked at the news," Hornsby said. "I have worked for a lot of fine employers during my baseball career, but Wrigley was the prince of them all."

PRAISED BY HACK

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 26.—(INS.)—"Baseball has lost one of its greatest men."

Thus spoke Hack Wilson, slugging outfielder with the Chicago Cubs last year, when informed of the death of William Wrigley, owner of the club, which passed him on to the Cardinals, who have sold him to Brooklyn.

"He was always fair and square and a mighty fine man. Baseball will feel his loss for many years to come."

CUYLER FEELS LOSS

HARRISVILLE, Mich., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—William Wrigley was "one of the finest employers I ever knew," Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, said today when he learned of Wrigley's death.

"Mr. Wrigley was a great fellow and spent hours with his players," Cuyler said. "His loss will greatly change the atmosphere of the club."

"GREAT MAN"—BREADON

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—A great man for baseball."

This is how Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, characterized his National League colleague, William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, who died today.

"Baseball has lost one of its finest characters," Breadon said. "I believe the happiest moment of his career was when the Cubs cinched the National League flag in 1929. His greatest disappointment, I believe, was when the Cubs were beaten in the world series by the Athletics."

RUPPERT GRIEVED

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—Prominent New York baseball men voiced their sincere grief at the death today of William Wrigley, Jr.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, said:

"I was both surprised and shocked to hear of Mr. Wrigley's death. He was a fine man and a great personal friend of mine. His passing will be a great loss to baseball and it will be just as great a loss to the whole business world. Mr. Wrigley was that strange, unusual combination of business man, gentleman, sportsman and loyal friend."

Ed Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, paid this tribute:

"Mr. Wrigley's death means a great loss to all of us in baseball—a really personal loss. No man in the game was more respected. My sympathy goes out to his family and his friends."

Wood Postpones Attempt to Set Speed Record

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 26.—(AP.)—High winds today caused Gar Wood, veteran speedboat driver, to postpone his scheduled attempt to break the world speedboat record of 110.223 miles an hour.

He called off the trial after learning an east-southeast wind of 14 miles an hour was blowing across the course and that there was no assurance from the weather bureau of an immediate decrease in its velocity.

OTTO REISELT IN COMEBACK

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, pulled himself back into the running for the world three-cushion billiard championship yesterday, and Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, and Allen Hall, of Chicago, were virtually eliminated from title consideration.

Reiselt gave Hall his fourth defeat in five matches, gaining a 50-to-46 margin in 50 innings. Reiselt went into second place with four victories and one defeat.

Len Kenney, Chicago youngster, came back to win his third in a row, by defeating Denton, 50 to 49, in 56 innings.

Bud Westhus, former St. Louis University football player, scored his second victory in six starts, defeating Frank Scoville, of Buffalo, 50 to 42 in 73 long drawn out innings.

Augie Kieckhefer, of Chicago, was tumbled from the lead, losing to Jay Boerman, of Vallejo, Cal., 50 to 48, in 54 bitterly-fought innings. It was Kieckhefer's first setback in four matches.

PIET PIRATE HOLDOUT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Tony Piet, according to a report from Chicago, is said to be dissatisfied with the figures shown on his 1932 contract, and it is rumored he may have returned the paper to the Pirates' office here with the request for a larger salary.

It was indicated at the local headquarters, where information regarding player contracts is held strictly confidential, that there would be little trouble in signing the snappy second baseman, and five other rebellious players.

Others who now are on the Bue holdout list include Paul and Lloyd Waner, Ervin Brame, Larry French and Charley Wood. Gus Suhr was among those mentioned momentarily, but he decided to sign up.

Manager George Gibson is expected to report here soon for a conference prior to the spring training camp trip.

FORMER BUC TO COACH

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Al Montgomery, pitcher, who went up to the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1923, and since has played with Kansas City of the American Association and later in the Pacific Coast League, today was signed to coach baseball at the University of California at Los Angeles this spring.

Apples Meyers comes back into the local fistic picture tonight after a long absence, when he reopens the Moose Temple boxing arena in Penn avenue with a corking card of four bouts. Tiger Joe West, local middleweight, and Paul Pirrone, Cleveland's lusty belter, box the 10-round main bout, a return number, the pair having battled to a draw at the Meyers Bowl late last summer. West claimed he was ill before that bout and said he could have done better if he had been in good condition, and he will get a chance to prove it tonight. A match with Ben Jeby or some other worthy opponent at Motor Square Garden awaits him if he gets past Pirrone, who has a national reputation.

Paul Pirrone

Tom Malco, of Soho, a former Moose main bout favorite, who has been indulging in a long layoff, returns to box Roger Brooks, of Cleveland, stablemate of Pirrone, in the six-round semi-final. Steve Senich, rugged Homestead youth, meets Bobby Burns, of Swissvale, in the second bout, and Max Elling, the King Levinsky of the Hill district, tosses up his title of local amateur middleweight champion to engage Nick Susnell, of Rochester, Pa., in the opener, set for 8:30 o'clock.

Between Rounds

Sylvan Hart, Baltimore welterweight, who meets Jimmy Redmond in a return bout at the Garden one week from tonight, has beaten Sergt. Sammy Baker, Young Kalafat, Kilmer Bauman and Johnny Dixon and smeared out Pat Haley since recovering from the badly cut eye he suffered in a sparring with Redmond at the Garden last season.

Soldier Monteith, matchmaker of the Olympia Arena in Detroit, is angling with Abie Witz to have the latter's flatting victory over Eddie Lord, of Cleveland, before his club Friday night of next week, with Jimmy Thomas. Gizzy's stablemate, boxing Vidal Gregorio, the Spaniard, in another 10-rounder on the same bill. Thomas beaned Gregorio at the Mayo Bowl last summer. Promoter Ralph Cooke, of Flint, Mich., wants to remain Gizzy and Eddie Anderson, whom the Battler defeated in Flint last Friday night, Detroit and Flint papers say. Gizzy won by a wide margin and went over with a bang with his fine showmanship.

Frankie Bauer, of Cleveland, who boxes Davy Grove, of the North Side, in the 10-round window at Hickeropert Thursday night, knocked out Eddie Latko in Cleveland last Friday night and also has beaten Leo Wojcieszko, Joe Schiland, Mike Locke, Harold Krol and Jack Donnelly. Jimmy Terry, of Akron, who meets Johnny Chiodo, of Johnstown, in another 10-rounder, has beaten Pete Johnson, Jackie Goldman, Bruno Bruno and others and claims to have scored 24 knockouts in 78 bouts.

Jimmy Mack, who beats Jackie Rodgers in a 10-round main bout at the Broadwin A. C., in Philadelphia, Friday night, is a brother of Al Mackie and Young Chappie, former Philadelphia boxers. Matty White and Johnny Cassemiri box the eight-round semi-final.

Close to 200 entries have been made for the Allegheny Interstate Association A. A. U. indoor meet at the Keystone A. C., Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Jackie Purvis beats Jack Dreesher in a six-round windup in Cleveland, Friday night.

BASS IS BARRED IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Harry Dublinsky, Chicago lightweight, outpointed Prince Saunders, Chicago, by a liberal margin to win a newspaper decision in a 10-round bout here last night. Dublinsky weighed 140 pounds and Saunders 138.

Benny Bass, Philadelphia fighter, yesterday was given a 30-day suspension by the Minnesota Boxing Commission for failure to go through with a 10-round bout with Saunders.

Heydler Pays High Tribute to Wrigley

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, today paid tribute to William Wrigley, Jr., as a "dominant figure in the National game as well as in our national life."

Wrigley's connection with the Chicago Cubs goes back to 1917, Heydler said, at which time he obtained an interest in the club prior to taking over control.

"His death is a great shock," he added. "I knew him as a fine sportsman, always optimistic and charitable. He exerted a fine influence on our National game and his resources were responsible for building up the Chicago Cubs. His loss will be felt by thousands of friends of baseball as well as by the public at large."

TECH BEATEN BY GENEVA

GAME TONIGHT

Bluefield College at Morris-Harvey.

By JESS CARVER

Carnegie Tech slipped back into the basketball slough of despond last night in its own gymnasium as its varsity passers were defeated by Geneva's Covenanters, 35 to 32.

Cliff Aultman

The Tartans entered the contest with the highly powered Genevians no better than an even choice; indeed, those who know their basketball figured that if Geneva was "on," it would take the Tartans. Geneva wasn't as "on" as it might have been, but had sufficient class, speed and ability to outscore the Skibos.

EDELBUT AT CENTER

Carnegie was able to start its full strength against Geneva, although Coach Buzz Hogan elected to use Edelblut at center instead of Eddie Stentz. Geneva, however, was forced to get along without the services of the dependable and clever Slim Ransom, as classy a center as there is in the section. Slim rode the bench for the greater part of the ball game with an injured knee, but when he was inserted into the action, exhibited so much class and skill that he had the boys wondering if maybe the going would not have been much more treacherous for the Skibos had he been in there all along.

Although he did not figure so prominently in the scoring, the Geneva play was led by the redoubtable Cliff Aultman, who has won greater renown as a football player that he ever will claim as a floor star. Aultman was good for two baskets and as many fouls, one of his two-ply goals coming from near the center of the floor, and rivaling the sensational shot turned in as the final gun cracked by Lou Jagnow, Tech's highly-touted forward, who flung one from past the middle of the court that swished through the net without so much as saying "howdy" to the rim.

MONTGOMERY LEADS

Red Silverman, with four field goals and a foul, led the Carnegie point shopping with nine markers. For Geneva, Manning had as many, also scoring a quartet of field goals but Cappy Montgomery led the way for all scorers with three baskets and five fouls, 11 points in all.

In a preliminary tusale, the Carnegie Plebes, ably handled by Freshman Coach George Nease, nosed out the rugged Geneva reserves, 25 to 19. The lineups:

JACKET COACH FINDS REISE IN TOP FORM

By CARL W. SHATTO

Leo Reise probably will see considerable action when the Yellow Jackets resume their International League hockey campaigning against the Buffalo Bisons here Thursday.

Leo, with the Jackets for a time last season, appears to be in fine condition, and will perform as a defense substitute. Since the opening of the present season he has been in action coaching the Brantford Intermediates in the Ontario Hockey Association, and in recent practice sessions here he has convinced Coach Charley Reid that he is ready for league championship action.

Reise figures to add to the strength of the Jackets' attack for he is one of the fastest skaters in this, or any other circuit.

Short Shots

Reid is not the only coach dissatisfied with the showing of his team. Manager Hap Holmes has threatened to make wholesale replacements in Cleveland and recently visited Detroit in an attempt to obtain Carson Cooper from the Detroit National Leaguers. His trip was fruitless, however, that lad Indians just to Syracuse, 5-0, so he probably is touring again.

Shortly before the 1931-32 race opened, Pittsburgh made an effort to sign Bill Holmes, star center with Syracuse last season. Holmes rejected the Jackets' bid and elected to try his luck in the American League. The last announcement regarding Holmes is that he has quit the Chicago Shamrocks with a claim of $600 in unpaid salary.

Whitey Fields' recent spurt has boosted him into a tie with Gordy Fraser for first honors in the Jackets' individual scoring race. Each has 12 points. Fraser still leads all defensemen in the circuit but Jara Arbour of Windsor is trailing by only one point. McFarlane of Cleveland is two points behind the local star.

The Jackets have scored only four goals against London in gaining one tie and three victories over the Tecumsehs. In the four games the Canadians beat Goalie Abbie Cox only once.

Incidentally, Cox has turned in five shutouts, three against London and two against Windsor.

SOCCER CONFAB TONIGHT

By TOM BIRKS

A special meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Soccer Football Association will be held this evening at its headquarters. With special business on the agenda, all committeemen are expected to be on hand.

The fate of the Central League champion, Clan Douglas, probably will be settled. Douglas has entered an appeal against the league decision regarding its protest of Player Palmer, of the Westinghouse team. From the nature of the appeal, it is hard to see where the Clansmen can win the case.

Sunday fans will have an opportunity to watch the junior semi-finalists in action. The Shannon Owls and Shannon Juniors game has been postponed a number of times because of the National and West Penn senior contests, and the committee is taking this opportunity to get it out of the way.

With the Morrys drawn with the National champion, Akron Goodyears, in the Western semi-final round, and the Morrys' replay with Morgan, local fans are due to see some interesting battles in the next few weeks.

Last year the Goodyears bumped Morgan out of the cup play and went on to annex the crown previously worn by Heidelberg. Nine members of the same team will show against the Morrys. The Shannon Juniors feel that Harry Sickles and his mates will relieve them of further interest in the cup.

Jones won a technical knockout after battering Piazzi to a pulp for four rounds. The Negro completely outclassed and outboxed his foe in every round except the first. He was slow to start, but after warming up to his task with the beginning of the third round, the result seemed to be a foregone conclusion.

Carey Asks Repeal Of Fight Ticket Tax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(INS.)—Repeal of the federal tax of 25 per cent on prize fight tickets selling for $5 or more was urged upon the House Ways and Means Committee today by William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, of New York.

He told the committee the tax had failed to produce revenue for the government and had knocked boxing bout prices out of line.

Carey said he did not object to the 10 per cent admission tax on seats costing $3 or more and would not object to a 10 per cent tax on tickets costing $1 or more during the present financial emergency of the government.

Carey said he avoided the 25 per cent tax penalty by making the range of prices for the Garden from $1 to $4.99. The proper range, he said, is from $1 to $7.50.

CITY LEAGUE DEADLOCK TO BE BROKEN

By JULIUS LEVIN

A three-cornered deadlock for first place in Section I of the City League will be broken this afternoon, when all teams involved in the tie swing into action against formidable opponents.

Johnny Dickinson's Connelley aggregation and Chester Briggs' Fifth Avenue quintet, two of the three teams in the deadlock, will clash in the feature attraction on the Connelley floor. Schenley, the third of the triumverate, will entertain the vastly improved Taylor Allderdice passers.

The three quintets are tied for first place with four victories and one defeat apiece.

ALLEGHENY AT OLIVER

Allegheny High, setting the pace in Section II, having won five straight league victories without suffering a setback, should have no trouble making it six in a row by opposing Oliver at Oliver.

The feature attraction in Section II is the battle between South Hills and Perry at South Hills. The two teams at present are tied for second place and they stake all their hopes of overtaking Allegheny on this game.

New Kensington and Har-Brack, co-leaders in Section I battle at New Kensington for the right to take sole possession of first place. The two teams boast clean league slates for the season to date, each winning four in a row.

BUTLER HIGH IN TEST

The New Castle-Butler affair at New Castle brings together two old rivals in a battle for first place of Section III. Both teams are undefeated, each having won four straight league encounters.

Section VI followers will not be without some interesting floor games tonight, for there is a possibility of a three-way deadlock for the top position. Neenie Campbell's Ford City aggregation is setting the pace at present with four victories in as many league starts. If Kittanning defeats Ford City and Leechburg triumphs over Daston Vocational, Ford City, Leechburg and Kittanning will be involved in a three-cornered tie.

The Scott-Turtle Creek game in Section VIII, originally scheduled for tonight, will be played on the Scott floor tomorrow night.

Haydn Thomas, of Munhall, heads the scorers in Section VII and Pickles Kreiling, of Braddock, leads the way in Section VIII, according to latest records including last Friday's games. Thomas has 39 points and Kreiling a total of 27. The leading scorers follow:

Finance Sees Changed View on War Debts

By B. C. FORBES

THE FINANCIAL world has become convinced that a definite change has occurred in this country's attitude towards war debts and towards other European financial problems.

The original Hoover moratorium was widely applauded; since then very emphatic opposition to further generosity at the expense of American taxpayers has developed. The verdict is:

Mr. Forbes

"Let Europe settle her own differences."

Will Rogers summed up the reason for calling off the latest debt conference very neatly when he asked what would be the use of holding a picnic if the fellow with the lunchbasket was not going to show up.

France has incurred the severest criticism. She has cajoled or coerced, whichever promised the better results—for France. She has bolstered up nations under her thumb and has launched financial attacks against Britain and the United States.

American high finance retorted to French threats to withdraw gold from New York:

"Take back your gold, the quicker the better."

It galls proud France to realize that the world rates the American dollar above the French franc. It is the height of folly for anyone to imagine that the United States can be forced off the gold standard.

That world recovery will be initiated here need not be doubted.

IN THE HIGHEST circles sentiment, childishly pessimistic some weeks ago, has at last become rationally hopeful.

AN ENCOURAGING sign: Advertising is on the increase.

CALAMITY HOWLERS have portrayed America as eating up, exhausting her savings. Here are the facts, the amazing facts: Mutual savings bank deposits on January 1 passed the $10,000,000,000 mark for the first time in century-long history of such institutions—$10,030,014,385.

The increase during 1931 was $565,281,893.

Depositors now total 13,359,671, a new record.

The 1931 gain was 584,179, an extraordinary showing.

The average account rose during the year from $740 to $750. New York led with a $855 average. Rhode Island had $819, Indiana $779.

Not one mutual savings bank failed to pay its regular dividends. Average rate paid was 4.32 per cent.

Let pessimists ponder these impressive figures.

GEORGE F. BAKER'S First National Bank of New York does not hold the banking dividend rate record. A. McVay, Southwestern Milling Company, Pittsburgh, writes by way of correcting this column. He says:

"The Union Trust Company of this city has a record of 200 per cent cash dividends, payable 50 per cent quarterly. In addition, they paid a Christmas cash dividend of 6 per cent."

Congratulations!

BRAINS COUNT. President C. J. Claassen, of the Farmers National Company, Omaha, writes:

"One of our younger Nebraska tenants bought, very cheaply, the old, used machinery and run-down stock of the previous, incapable tenant on a farm. With this identical equipment, which he repaired, nearly identical cropping weather and on the identical land, he produced 2,136 bushels of corn in 1931, compared with 384 bushels produced by the former tenant.

"His fields have been cleaned. The buildings have been painted at his own labor expense. In 1930 the crop, at 45 cents, yielded $178.20; in 1931, at 25 cents, $747.60, an increase of $574.80.

"We have had splendid moisture and snows the last few weeks."

Isn't that a refreshing item?

Buying of Important Merger Stocks Hurt Position of Railroads

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

WHY ARE THE railroads having so much more trouble weathering the business storm than large industrial corporations? Some of the reasons are generally known, but little has been said about one of the most important contributing factors.

There has been much comment about the fact that the railroads were unable to retire their funded debt by the sale of additional stock as was done by the industrial organizations. Much has been said about the growing competition of new forms of transportation. We know that it is not as easy for a railroad to cut its costs as for a manufacturer. We know that some railroads never did enjoy exceptional prosperity even when general business was good.

But the fact remains that some railroads did make plenty of money in the years preceding 1930. Why was this not reflected in a more general reduction of railroad funded debt or in the accumulation of cash to tide the carriers over their present troubles?

The answer is found in the headlong rush of the railroads, particularly of the Eastern lines, to buy the stocks of strategical merger properties. In many cases the systems were bidding against each other and in nearly all cases the stocks were acquired when the bull market was in its heyday.

Large Losses in Value Of Investments Shown

NOT ALL RAILROADS participated in the game of bidding up the stocks of valuable pieces in the transportation puzzle. Some of the most active were strong lines whose financial position was not unduly strained. But

MARKET SLIDES BACK AFTER EARLY RISE

Traders Extremely Wary in View of Uncertainty of Steel Dividend Action

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP.) — The stock market again attempted a cautious climb today, but had little heart for it, and slid back after mid-day.

Traders were extremely wary, in view of the uncertainty over the United States Steel dividend, to be announced after the close, and the continued delays in the railway wage conference in reaching an agreement.

United States Steel rose fractionally, then eased off, selling slightly under yesterday's close. Rails had an interval of strength. Cotton Belt common more than 2, and the preferred, 13 points, on the Interstate Commerce Commission's conditional approval of acquisition by Southern Pacific. Such issues as Southern Pacific, New Haven and Baltimore and Ohio lost early gains of a point, and New York Central sagged fractionally. Such issues as American Can, Allied Chemical, Case, North American and National Biscuit sold up a point or more, then slipped back.

While Wall street continued to take a hopeful view of the railway negotiations, earnings statements appearing for December and for the full year of 1931 were unfavorable.

Traders were generally disinclined to extend themselves until the U. S. Steel dividend should be out of the way. Most quarters in Wall street have taken it for granted that American Tobacco directors, meeting tomorrow, will order the usual extra dividend of $1 a share, and the Tobacco shares had an interval of firmness. Ordering of regular quarterly dividends of 30 cents and $1.50 by Studebaker and International Business Machines, respectively, were among the reassuring dividend developments.

Wall street regarded the improvement in the outlook for new financing as distinctly improved and early flotation of long deferred offerings is being planned. No call money was offered in the outside market under the official rate of 2½ per cent.

SUIT INVOLVES DURANT UNIT

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—William C. Durant, a founder of the General Motors Corporation, whose control he later lost to the Morgan-du Pont interests in the panic of 1920, today served notice that he, and his new Durant Motors, Inc., are still in the ring.

Durant, whose 70 years have repeatedly found him as a storm center in battles with Wall street's financial giants, today began working on the receivership tangle that involves one of his companies. The receivership action, he said, had been mistakenly interpreted as directed against the parent company. Instead, he said, it was brought aginst one of several subsidiaries.

For the fourth quarter of 1931 net loss was $1,549,948 as compared with net loss of $934,352 in the third quarter and with net income of $283,754 or 48 cents a share on the preferred stock in the fourth quarter of 1930.

SUCCESS IN putting the fun-making business on a paying basis is causing Sisters of the Skillet more worry than all the household problems" submitted to them for solution, they revealed yesterday in a cryptogram letter received by a listener in Oakland. The income tax is the question occupying their spare moments. Last year the fun-makers solved the income tax problem very handily by using old automobile license plates as a basis. But since they started blowing bubbles for a soap company sponsor they have received a raise in salary and find they need more digits. The Sisters tried adding their house numbers and subtracting their telephone numbers, but after two days' figuring they still owed the government money. A search of their "problem" files has failed to provide a solution. Plenty of other radio acts will pay Uncle Sam a handsome portion of their salary when March 15 rolls around.

Question a Day

Last Sunday on the wavelength of KYW I heard what seemed to be a conversation between two airplane pilots. One voice said "AB5 calling Lieut. Ross of GH6" and another remark, "Your position over Lorain Airport O. K." Where are these stations located?—G. R., East Pittsburgh.

Answer—AB5 is an Army station at Cleveland Airport. You were tuned to the second harmonic of AB5, since the regular frequency is 510 kilocycles. Double this would be 1020 kilocycles, exactly the wavelength of KYW. Sunday is usually a maneuvering day for radio-equipped planes at the Cleveland port.

So many compositions—573, to be exact—have been entered in the NBC orchestral awards contest that Deems Taylor and other judges have decided to postpone naming the winners until Sunday, April 3, at 10:15 p. m., when the five choice selections will be played over NBC-WCAE. A Pittsburgh musician has entered two compositions.

Seibel to Discuss 'Maud Adams'

George Seibel, dramatic critic of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will tell something about "Maud Adams" in his broadcast of "Plays and Players" over WCAE at 7 o'clock tonight.

The Sun-Telegraph Night Club of the Air, which last night presented Lois Miller and other stars of Loew's Penn Theater, will be on WCAE at 11 tonight with Dave Levin's Orchestra and a varied entertainment program. Jack Keough will be master of ceremonies.

News broadcasts today will be at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

LOEW'S PENN RADIO FARE

Lois Miller, singing organist of Loew's Penn Theater, demonstrated last night on the Sun-Telegraph Night Club of the Air that she has one of radio's sweetest voices.

With Miss Miller last night were Sunny Marino, 10-year-old boy discovery of Loew's Penn Theater, and Bob Weeden, the singing usher, whose parents trouped the vaudeville circuit years ago.

Beginning next Monday, Loew's Penn Theater will offer high caliber movie stars on the Sun-Telegraph Night Club. Alice White, Conrad Nagel and others will be presented—a star every Monday night.

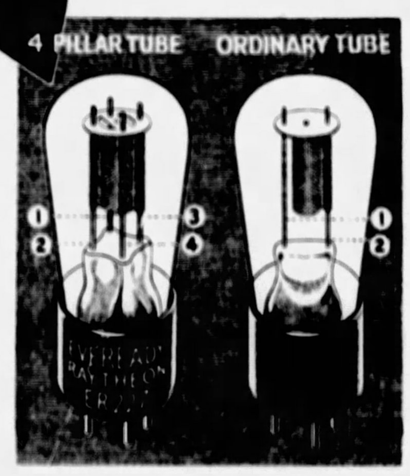
ONLY ACCURATE TUBES CAN GIVE YOU FAITHFUL RECEPTION

4-PILLAR TUBES STAY ACCURATE

A RADIO TUBE, like a watch, must be accurate to be reliable. A tube which has lost its accuracy distorts voices and musical tones, creates harsh noises in your loud-speaker, and lacks the power to give full, rounded, room-filling volume.

Why risk missing the best that your radio can give? Why sacrifice any of the tone-qualities which were carefully built into it? Equip it throughout with Eveready Raytheon 4-pillar Tubes . . . tubes which you know are accurate.

Rugged, rigid strength permanently guards the inbuilt accuracy of 4-pillar tubes. They have four sturdy pillars to anchor their elements firmly in place . . . one at each corner of a square. All other tubes have only two, and as a result, can be damaged by the inevitable jolts and vibration of handling and usage.



Notice the four strong pillars. With this solid foundation the fragile parts cannot move a hair's breadth from their fixed position. Other tubes have only a two-pillar foundation. Two supports instead of four! Jolts, bumps and vibration often impair their vital accuracy.

This is the first big advance in radio-tube construction since the development of modern radio. It is a unique, patented feature which no other tube can use!

Your dealer can demonstrate the superiority of 4-pillar tubes. Compare them tube for tube with others, and the difference is amazing. But to realize what an enormous improvement they can make, install a complete set of 4-pillar tubes—then listen!

EVEREADY RAYTHEON TUBES are Quick Heaters. Don't be fooled by tubes of the old, slow-heater type with which the market is flooded. A modern tube should heat up in 10 seconds or less. Time it yourself!

No place for . . . SQUEALING TUBES

EVERY so often even the best radio sounds like a pig under a fence. But don't blame static, and don't blame your set for every noise you hear. Howls, squeals, chatters and buzzes can all come from a single worn-out tube!

If your radio is six months old or older—take the tubes to your dealer . . have them tested . . replace the bad ones with brand-new Sylvania Radio Tubes. Sylvania tubes have been tested for a radio exactly like the one you own! At present low prices, even a full new set of Sylvania tubes costs very little.

SALESMEN

Many experienced salesmen who have been advertised an advertisement for years are reading this one reading it because the present unfavorable condition has thrown them out of work and they face the NECESSITY of locating new connections and permanent future which were practically completed before the depression.

We know who many of you are, we know why you are reading, we know the position you are in and the problem you are facing. But it is YOUR PROBLEM and you are going to lose it only as soon as YOU DECIDE IN YOUR OWN MIND to figuratively take off your coats and go to it.

Many have been sales managers, sales managers, superintendents, sales managers and executives. All of you are thinkers. All of you are good salesmen and, if you will decide a better future than you have had during the depression, you are going to do over again a better straight selling job than you ever did before.

We offer this opportunity. The average salesman has had to drop his whole scale of living and settle down to the position you do now regardless of what or where it is.

We have several excellent, straight selling wide connection, permanent places open in our Pittsburgh sales organization. They require active work again. Those making good will be given a chance to cooperative. You can advance within 30 days with our co-operation, and the right men will become within six months.

If you can and will energetically go out and meet and sell yourself to people in order to make people like you, we will show you how to profitably obtain more money than you previously received in any other home operation, for one of which we know.

Ed Freed When Jury Returns Verdict of Not Guilty In Murder Case

(Adapted from the original motion picture story of W. R. Burnett with screen play by John I. Mahin; produced by Cosmopolitan Productions and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.)

CHAPTER XVII.

When Michaels, fortified by a long swig from his bottle, his face flushed, returned to the courtroom, the judge rapped for order. Michaels cleared his throat, dabbed his handkerchief to his lips, and swept a hand toward Ed.

"Why, gentlemen," he said, "look at that fine young man—" Ed squirmed in his chair. "— that open and boyish countenance. Can anyone of you imagine him wanting to murder and steal—to be a party to such a diabolical conspiracy? And consider these other two defendants—you've watched them through this disgraceful trial, gentlemen." Michaels paced up and down in front of the jury, speaking now in pleading tones, now in a fiery, outraged fashion.

"These are strong men, upright men, smiling in the face of false accusations. One of them, they say, has served a prison sentence. But if I were that man, I'd be proud. He served that sentence gentlemen, to save the honor of an innocent woman."

The attorney made a dramatic pause and looked from one to the other of the jurors. He was leaning on the rail, peering almost into their faces.

"As this man's attorney I am entrusted with the story. If I could violate that trust and tell it to you gentlemen you would arise as one man and cheer him for his sacrifice. And can you look at these two mild defendants, Mr. Mahaffey and Mr. Morgan, and imagine them harming anyone—let alone killing anyone?"

Everyone looked in the direction of the two mild defendants, whose countenances were dark and foreboding, in whose eyes lurked criminality and viciousness, and whose lips were twisted in sickly grins.

"And that's the only testimony introduced by the prosecution that's worth considering? The word of four detectives and the honorable chief of police. The confessions they obtained by savage violence! Would you not confess, too, if you were beaten and intimidated and kept from eating and sleeping and treated like an animal? What does such a confession mean—and what does the word of these policemen mean, who have repeatedly expressed their enmity for the defendants? Blood-letters—professional persecutors—men to whom their own flesh and blood is meat and drink!

"And the testimony of these three witnesses! You heard them repudiate everything the District Attorney said they said. They were bullied and intimidated, too. Panic-stricken by the force of formidable law. Here they have the merciful protection of the court and can speak the truth—but who knows what goes on behind the doors of the District Attorney's office, or the Chief of Police's office? The devil alone knows—and he laughs!

"And can you have any faith in the word and actions of a man who tries to send his own brother to the chair? Who can believe such a man? Even if his brother were guilty, would it not be more human, would you not respect him more, if he sought to evade direct questions? Law or no law, it is only in mythology that we find such conscientiousness as is supposed to have been displayed here—where brother prosecutes brother. It is fiendish—ghastly!"

The attorney paused for breath. He walked about a moment. The two gunmen in the front row of spectators leaned forward and searched the faces of the 12 jurors.

"Fightin' Jim Fitzpatrick!" he screamed. "He plays no favorites. He has no shame. He takes that poor, defenseless, beautiful girl, the victim of one foul police frame-up that ruined her life, and attempts to involve her in this rotten crime, no rottener than the crime of trying to crucify three innocent men for it, because she loved a man. . . . Great God! Is that a crime too?

"Fightin' Jim Fitzpatrick! Bah! The strong arm of the police department. The blundering failure. Mad with a mania to make a big reputation, frustrated by his own stupid incompetence—desperate for a victim over whose body he can trample to glory—so he picks his own brother!

"The man who wanted to clean up the city!" The little attorney went over and shook his finger beneath the very nose of Fightin' Jim, who set his jaw and clenched his fists. "He tried the very night he went into office to clean up the city. But what did he do? He bungled, and he had to admit it—and lay off. Cries that the crime element in the city has him licked. Now, what does he try to do but vindicate himself? Win a prosecution at any price—by brutal methods. They don't call him Fightin' Jim for nothing. Wants to make a goat—even of his own kid brother—" Here the attorney's voice broke melodramatically. It was a full minute before he could choke out the words. "That is all, gentlemen," and with a despairing gesture he staggered into his seat.

* * *

One by one the gentlemen of the jury filed into the jury box. They had been out a half hour. They remained standing and the judge rapped for order.

"Gentlemen of the jury," intoned the judge, "have you come to a verdict in this case?"

"We have, Your Honor," repeated the foreman in a hollow voice.

"What is your verdict, gentlemen?"

The foreman cleared his throat, glanced apprehensively around, dropped his eyes and then spouted:

"Not guilty, Your Honor."

Daisy could not control herself. She sobbed and sobbed and clung to Ed frantically.

"Oh, my darling," she wept. "An' I thought you was gone—an' now you're back in my arms—I can't believe it."

"Yes, I'm back," said Ed slowly. "But what am I going to do now? I won't go back on the force, even though by law I can. My brother is as bitter as ever. He knows. I can't blame him."

"Never mind, honey, we'll find a way—you love me, don't you?"

Ed looked into her eyes for a moment, then he started to speak, but couldn't, and he gathered her in his arms and kissed her.

"Yes yes, I love you, Daisy—but I don't know what we're going to do," he said.

"Leave it to me, honey—we'll find a way, Belmonte's still your——"

"Don't talk to me about Belmonte!" exclaimed Ed, pushing her away.

"But, listen, nobody has to know a thing about it—I'll do all the work—we'll make some money—and then we'll go away——"

Ed sank back with a hopeless gesture.

Synopsis

Jim Fitzpatrick, police captain, noted for his honesty, succeeds in having Daisy Beaumont freed after she is arrested on a false charge. Four racketeers are found murdered and Fitzpatrick suspects Guiseppe Belmonte, overlord of a huge vice ring. Belmonte is arrested by Fitzpatrick, but is soon released. Ed Fitzpatrick, sergeant of the vice squad, promises to help his brother Jim to bring Belmonte to justice. They discover that Daisy is employed by the vice leader. Ed admires Daisy and visits her. Belmonte plans revenge on Jim with Daisy's help. Ed is detailed to guard a fortune in gold bullion being transferred from a bank. Becoming drunk, he plans to steal it himself and reveals his plans to Mike Cholo. The next day the gold is stolen and Lieut. Makowsky is killed while chasing the robbers. Two of the bandits are arrested and tell Jim that Ed planned the robbery. Jim orders Ed's arrest on a murder charge. Belmonte wants Ed to be freed and his gangsters intimidate the witnesses.

Now Go On

Daisy was happy to have Ed back.

ALL IN A DAY

Mystery Show—And Producer

OVER AT THE Sam H. Harris Theater is a mystery play called "Black Tower." The producer of the attraction is a gentleman named Ben Stein. And if I were still doing my "People I've Met" series, I would most certainly use him as a subject. Because he is a highly unusual character.

For plenty of years Mr. Stein's reputation has been based on the fact that he is one of the best box office men in the country. He knows more angles about speculators and seat sales than Kate Smith has pounds. During his term as treasurer of the Lyric Theater in the good old days he had a thousand and one chances to go into the other branches of show business. But he always kept away.

"I'm doing okay where I am," was his philosophy. "Why dabble with productions and things when I'm hitting the ball in the box office? Forget it. Let's go out somewhere and have some fun."

But it always gets them in the end. Like marriage, or cough medicines, the Broadway bird must always turn to production before his career is over. I think it was about three years ago that Mr. Stein took a look at his bank balance and produced "The Jade God," which purported to be a mystery thriller.

I thought that "The Jade God" was a rare bit of cheese. Every critic in town agreed with me. And because I like Ben, I advised him to close the effort as soon as possible.

"You'll save dough," I pointed out. "That show hasn't got a chance. Get wise to yourself and put it in the storehouse."

The gentleman shook his head.

"The people like mystery shows," he returned slowly. "I think that business will climb. I think I'll take a chance and hold on a little longer. You never know."

As a result, "The Jade God" made something of a young fortune for its producer. Altogether the show played 44 weeks, 17 of them in Chicago to excellent business. And if you think that's bad, I wouldn't advise you ever to attempt to produce a Follies.

Well, the years rolled by. I met Mr. Stein in one of the better Broadway hang-outs about three months ago and he told me he was going to produce another mystery show. Mr. Stein always speaks very slowly, especially after he has been to four or five hang-outs before you meet him. This was one of those occasions.

"Ben," I told him definitely, "I was wrong about 'The Jade God'—but that's an old story. These are different times. Conditions are rotten, and nothing but an absolute smash hit will get any dough at all. Don't be foolish. If you've got any dough, don't put it into one of your so-called mystery shows. Wait until better days arrive, if ever."

He gave me the same old shake of the dome.

"Maybe you're right, Mark," he returned, "but I know you'll excuse me if I don't think so. Besides, I'm not really doing it on my money. What I'm doing is going to men who have owed me dough for a long time and asking them to pay me back. And that's how the dough is being raised."

I shrugged my shoulders, wished him luck and left. On the way out I smiled to myself. Ben Stein had always been such a generous soul that I couldn't quite picture him going to various Broadwayites and requesting them kindly to pay back money that they owed him. A tip-off on the man's character was his statement to me that it wasn't being done with his money; it was just cash that he had handed out when times were good, never requesting its return. Oh, well—

"Black Tower," his new production, opened a short time ago. It received far better notices than "The Jade God," Stein's previous effort that made him so much money. Things are so uncertain around Broadway today that nobody knows for certain what will happen to any attraction. But "Black Tower" has already made some money and the indications are that it will continue to do so.

A few days ago a man walked into Stein's office. He was one of the individuals who had repaid Ben some money that he had previously borrowed.

"Good morning, Ben," he chirped affably.

The producer returned a drawled greeting.

"'Lo, George," he said. "Glad to see you again. Have a chair. Have a cigar. Have a drink. Have a look at the view."

The other man laughed.

"Happy to see you in such a fine mood, Ben," he said. "Tell me about the play. I hear you did very well last week. Is that right?"

Mr. Stein shrugged his shoulders.

"Nothing too exceptional," he replied. "But very encouraging. You know how those things go. You can't expect to make any millions the first few weeks."

The visitor was strangely persistent.

"But you did make some money, didn't you?" he asked. "I mean the show turned a profit all right, didn't it?"

The producer drummed his desk.

"Of course it did," he said. "Everybody knows that. But what makes you so anxious to know?"

The visitor began to laugh.

"Ha, ha, ha," he howled. "You're a great kidder, Ben. Asking me why I want to know about the profits! Ho, ho, ho."

The producer leaned forward.

"I'm not kidding at all," he cried. "What the devil are you laughing about?"

The other man stopped abruptly.

"Either you're crazy," he remarked, "or I am. Didn't you know that I was supposed to share in the profits of the show?"

Mr. Stein's eyes opened wide.

"Profits?" he repeated. "How did you figure that you were entitled to anything from this show?"

It was the other man's turn to look very astonished.

"Why," he asserted, "when you asked me for some money in connection with this show, I wasn't paying back what I owed you. I was investing in the proposition. Didn't you understand that?" . . .

When I heard of that nervy episode I asked Mr. Stein about it. He said it was true. And I asked him what he had done about it.

"What could I do about it?" was the producer's tired reply. "I gave him a piece of the show."

I gulped.

"Are you daffy?" I cried. "You should have thrown that guy out of your office. He was only figuring an angle to cut in on you. Why did you do it?"

Mr. Stein spoke more slowly than ever.

"You shouldn't be so harsh, Mark," he said. "After all, that fellow was nice enough to return my money when I needed it. Don't you think I owe him something for that?"

You figure it out . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS Junior Komic Club

By THE SUPREME GRAND JESTER

Saturday morning, with a representative of the Sun-Telegraph, I started out, in the pouring rain, to visit some of the chapter meetings of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club. Arriving at the Davis at 9:30, we found Grand Jester Joseph Mowod and a group of boys waiting in the lobby. By 10 o'clock, the hour appointed for the meeting, there was a big crowd of boys and girls waiting for the program to begin. The stage show was put on by pupils from the M. Barth School of Dancing. Before the picture began, birthday cakes were distributed to the members whose birthdays were within the week.

ENRIGHT CHAPTER

From the Davis we went to the Enright Chapter, East Liberty. As we entered the lobby we were greeted by a brass band, composed of boys from Troop 11, Boy Scouts, under the leadership of S. Sarraff. These boys will shortly begin a tour of the city chapters of the club.

At the Cameraphone, just a short distance away, we found another happy group of youngsters. Henry LaPertche and his orchestra, all members of the Junior Komic Club, were on the stage, playing for the dancers and accompanying the whole audience in singing. Henry and Bob Secola, another member of the orchestra, were dressed as clowns and did comedy acrobatic stunts between numbers. Musical specialties were presented by Baby Della, Dorothy Henry, Eileen Gable and Harriet Anderson.

Ted Rhea made a big hit with his 15 minutes of magic. Prizes were awarded to Jacob Kurfman, Maria Dugo, Elizabeth Higgins and Betty Niedhammer. Birthday cakes also were distributed.

A singing contest was under way when we reached the South Hills Chapter (Dormont). Joe Cardarelli was leading the boys and Mary Helen Jarman the girls. Virginia Gilland did a clever tap dance and Billy Smith gave a rendition of "Here Comes Sunday." A valentine contest was announced for members of this chapter. Prizes will be awarded for the best drawings of original valentines.

Schenley Chapter was also on our route, but we will tell you all about this big Oakland chapter tomorrow.

The modern little miss is comfortable and smartly dressed in the most adorable of printed cotton fabrics that will stand hard wear and many tubbings. Here is a model that boasts a cunning scalloped yoke above a dress animated with inverted pleats. These are stitched part way to hold them neatly in place for ironing. NEWCHANG.—"Whoopsie Daisey," the cry of success-crazed Japanese troops can be heard as I sit in the barber shoppe awaiting news of the advance. Although I do not know a soul out here, and hardly, if ever, speak Chinese, I imagine pretty well. In fact, I have a few hotsie totsie items on the tip of my tongue which I didn't know until now, O-KAY America—

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks are that way about each other.

Although denied when first suggested by me in 1901, Clara Bow and Harry Richman are pfft.

What prominent Hollywood assistant director (Yes Man to you!) will be Renovated (get it?) in 1933?

That's all until this time next week. See you tomorrow, o-KAY Tienchwangti!

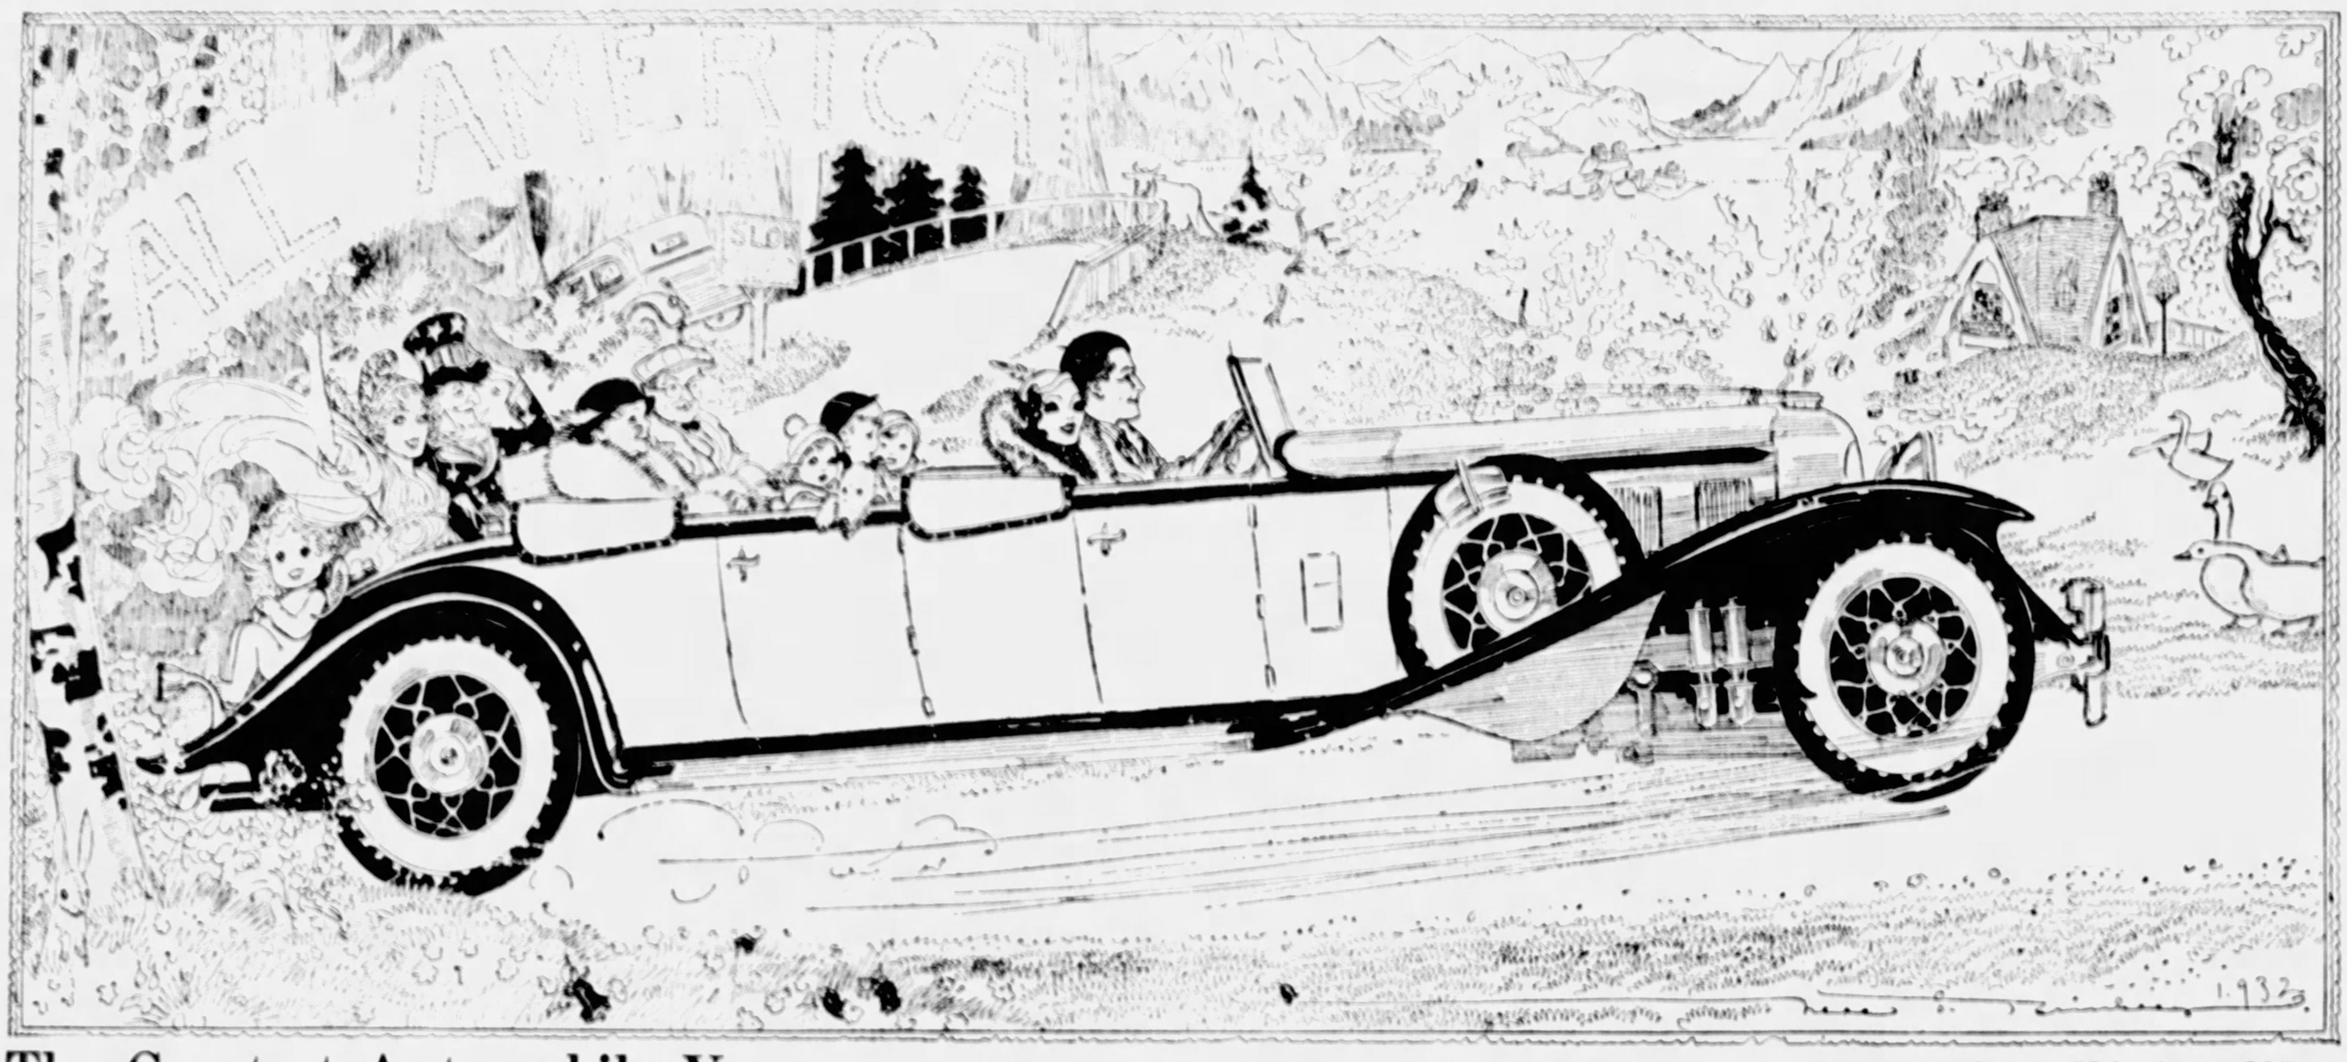
'ALL AMERICA ON WHEELS IN 1932'



The Greatest Automobile Year

The new year brings the new automobile. You can see them all, assembled in competition at the Pittsburgh Automobile Show at Motor Square Garden, Baum boulevard and Beatty street, until January 30 inclusive.

You owe it to yourself to see the new cars, the 1932 proofs of American inventive engineering and industrial genius, and supremacy in the world's greatest modern industry.

You may think "I do not need another car at this moment."

One of the new cars will convince you that you are mistaken.

First, LONG WEAR; second, PRICE; third, BEAUTY.

The new 1932 automobiles are BETTER CARS than were ever produced before, more rugged, more nearly foolproof, and indestructible.

The 1932 automobiles give you more for every dollar ested than was ever given before. The equipment is re useful and completely elaborate. What were forrly "extras" and luxuries are now part of the "regular" equipment, and endless devices for comfort and convenience have been added to the many with which you are familiar.

In all lines of products prices now are lower, the dollar buys more. This is MOST emphatically true in the automobile industry.

The modern automobile is more beautiful than it ever has been, in lines, shape, colors of infinite variety, handsome and durable coach work.

When you see the cars of lower price you will find it hard to believe that such marvelously beautiful, permanent products can be produced for so little money.

Those that remember the early automobiles, it is not necessary to be very old to remember them, recall the cars scattered along the roadside, men changing tires, lying on their backs under cars wondering what was wrong, women in their "dusters" made necessary by dirt roads, walking up and down, prepared for one or two hours' delay.

All that is ended. The engine is perfect and American ingenuity has improved, fortified and increased the life of the pneumatic tire to keep pace with the marvelous improvements in the tireless engine.

It is not the slightest exaggeration to say that with an automobile of moderate price today, you may leave Atlanta with your family, drive northwest to Seattle, down to San Diego, back through New Orleans, and not once change a tire, or lift the hood from your engine.

Water added to the radiator once or twice, oil and gasoline in proportion to mileage, both so cheap that it is a disaster for the oil company, with comfortable stopping places along every road, and GOOD ROADS EVERYWHERE. Such is the marvelous "paradise" for automobile drivers that engineering genius and good roads combined have created within a few years.

As to buying a new car.

You are interested in the problem of unemployment and the greatest of all problems, restoring prosperity.

The purchase of a new car is a DIRECT CONTRIBUTION TO BETTER TIMES. It means contributing to an industry that employs more than a million skilled men, directly connected with automobile production and distribution, and also employs men in mines, forests, cotton fields, oil fields, an infinite number and variety of workers.

To buy an automobile is far removed from an act of "SELF-INDULGENCE," it is an ACT of PUBLIC SPIRIT, a contribution to public confidence. It is the act of a good citizen, on the part of every man that can afford it.

"Can I afford an automobile" is not the real question involved. That question is, "Can I afford NOT to buy an automobile, at present prices, present values, and the arrangement for convenient purchase?"

The automobile possesses qualities possessed by nothing else.

No one will deny that it adds more to the happiness of the family than all other possessions combined.

All the members of the family, from small children to grandparents, will agree that rather than sacrifice the delight of a good automobile, they would sacrifice everything, except food to keep them alive.

An automobile means pleasure for yourself and others. It means fresh air, the oxygen that gives life for you, your family and your friends.

It means living longer because it means health, it means LIVING THREE TIMES AS LONG because length of life depends on how MUCH, how fully we live, not alone on how many years.

If threescore and ten was the limit of the old-fashioned human being plodding on foot or jogging in a buggy along a dusty road, then THREE TIMES THREESCORE AND TEN is the life of a man whose possessions include an automobile that will take him and his family anywhere with a speed that the ancient days never dreamed of, and with absolute economy.

It is an extravagance NOT to have a good car.

An automobile means health, happiness, time doubled in value, respect of your neighbors, friendship and gratitude of those that you so often oblige.

The purchase of a new automobile means many things in one. And most important, it means happiness for those that depend upon you.

It means also that you can contribute as a good citizen to the public welfare, to the problem of unemployment, to the distribution of goods, to the support and strengthening of a dozen great industries, from "basic" steel, to the wonderful enduring paint products with which modern chemistry decorates the modern automobile.

Don't miss this year's Pittsburgh Automobile Show. Go early, study all of the cars, compare, ask questions.

Go convinced, if you must, that you do not NEED a car, and that you will not BUY a car.

There are in the 1932 models SURPRISES, BEAUTIES and ECONOMIES that will convince you that you do NEED a car, and cannot afford to do without.

Greatest Value in the CAR. Greatest Value to YOU.

Build the Subway Now!

To Abandon the Project Now Is a "Penny Wise, Pound Foolish" Policy.

Twelve years ago the people of Pittsburgh authorized a bond issue of $6,000,000 to build a subway.

The city has spent $300,000 in furtherance of the project. The money has gone into the construction of piers and foundations, into surveys and other legitimate expenses.

The City Council recently decided in the interest of economy to abandon work on the project and to that end abolished the positions in the office of the Transit Commission under whose direction the work was being done.

It was a "penny wise, pound foolish" policy.

Pittsburgh has greater need of a subway now than 12 years ago, and the need will increase.

Abandonment of the project means the loss of the $300,000 already invested.

The work could be done now at a cost 43 per cent lower than it would have cost five years ago.

It would help to relieve unemployment.

Building of the subway at this time would not affect taxes for at least three years, because the constitution provides that interest and sinking fund charges on subway bonds can be paid from the proceeds of the bond issue until a year after the subway has been completed and is in operation.

If Council says the word it will be possible without any immediate expense to the taxpayers to have the street cars running underground in the downtown business district in two years. Traffic congestion will be relieved and trolley service expedited.

Council should at once order this work done.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—When E. Berry Wall left this shore to luxuriate under the porticoed Rue de Rivoli with his purple tongued chow, New York looked upon Patrick Francis Murphy as the last of the dandies. Now that he is gone there seems no one to carry on. The last of the mid-Victorian gestures.

Lucius Beebe once hailed Wall's manners and habiliments as "an oriflamme to sportsmen, a sort of modern banner of Navarre." This mantle fell naturally upon the gallant Murphy. He was the sole link connecting the harsh modern clatter with the soft gas-lit days that are gone.

New York has many high rollers, but they are mostly "sports" and not dandies as an older generation knew the term. With the passing of the dandy goes the art of leisure in living. The dandy knew his Almanach de Gotha, the bead of old wine and was calloused to Circerean capers.

He avoided the rabble, shunned cheap posing and his dinners were epicurean wonders from soup to souffle. Murphy was not only a gourmet and a dandy, but a finished after-dinner story teller whose wit and sentimental chivalry lent a sparkle to every gathering he graced.

The sartorial flings of the dandy were encompassed in checked pantaloons, russet bowlers and tan couvert coats with huge pearl buttons. He sipped port in the timbered gloom of the Brook Club, his opera coat had a white satined Inverness cape and was charmingly Old World.

Coaches and four, drawn with a high spirited guste, had not given way to silver gadgeted limousines. A Scotch and soda was something over which to dawdle in contrast to speakeasy gulping and consequent blurry conversation. Culture was an asset. Lovers strolled at night under star-strewn skies.

The modern version of the vanished dandy is cut to a crazy pattern. His social flair flowers in squiring the latest chorus beauty to a blind pig. He prides himself on a back-slapping acquaintance with gangsters, occupying a soundproof pent house and is fevered to Wall street sure things.

A babe in a house is a well-spring of pleasure.—Tupper.

He who prays and labors lifts his heart to God with his hands.—St. Bernard.

If a man proves too clearly and convincingly to himself that a tiger is an optical illusion—well, he will find out he is wrong. The tiger will himself intervene in the discussion, in a manner which will be in every sense conclusive. —G. K. Chesterton.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Life puzzles you. Maddens you, sometimes.

Why don't you get better breaks? Why aren't you more popular, more successful?

Look at all the pains you take to do things just right . . . to avoid temptations and doubtful situations . . . to choose just the right people, the right job, the "safe and sane" attitude. If anyone ever tried to live carefully, you do. And yet—

Something's always going wrong. Things never turn out the way you think they should, do they? And instead of being praised for your way of living, you're often criticized or blamed. Some people openly despise you.

It's all so unjust! For see how lucky other people are! The most careless people . . . people who do the craziest things . . . who take all sorts of chances with their time and money and health and safety and reputations. Yet things go all right with them. Luck actually seems to fall right into their laps. They're prosperous and popular. They have scads of friends. They always get the best jobs. And everyone admires them, just as if they had good sense. It's certainly a mystery.

No, it isn't, partner. It's as plain as 2x2-4. There is no magic about their luck . . . no accident. Their success is the natural, the inevitable result of their own attitude. As your failure is the natural and inevitable result of your attitude.

YOU LEAD A NO LIFE—
THEY LEAD YES LIVES—
There's the secret.

They lead POSITIVE lives—you lead a NEGATIVE life.

You spend your life AVOIDING and REPRESSING—

They spend their lives SEEKING and EXPRESSING—

You use your imagination and your energy to KEEP OUT OF TROUBLE—

They use their imaginations and energies to GET INTO LIFE.

Actually, you're both getting exactly what you want. You are keeping out of trouble. You're living safely and sanely. But you AREN'T living abundantly and colorfully . . . and they are.

Trouble is, stranger, you want to have your cake and eat it too. But it can't be done.

You can't be careful and still be colorful. If you're going to insist on safe living, you must be content with mighty slim pickings, for there is practically no growth without an element of danger, no right without a delicate edging of wrong. You must either take a chance . . . or give up your chances . . . decide to live like a Man . . . or a mouse.

But I still haven't explained why people love those who take chances . . . instead of admiring those who won't?

That's easy. People who take chances . . . people who seek life instead of avoiding it . . . are strong. And this weak, bewildered, often discouraged human race loves strength and courage . . . seeks it out, clings to it, REWARDS IT. Sometimes our faith in Strong Men isn't justified. But, even when it isn't, we have more of a run for our money! And we're curious critters. We'd rather rush pell-mell after the brave man, though he eventually leads us into hell . . . than mince along with the careful man into a guaranteed heaven.
